A Titus Special in Solid Mahogany.

Let us explain at the outset that in making use of the word "Special" we do so advisedly with a full realization that your expectations of value will be keyed to a high pitch—and you'll not be disappointed! You will look for an offering that excels—that is chief in excellence even among many noteworthy surprises.

Never have we been able to make such a striking comparison between the "sham" and the "real" as in this Solid Mahogany Chair and the chair only partly constructed of the King of Woods. From start to finish it is all mahogany.

If you wonder how the Chair can be offered so low remember please that the Titus method of buying and selling differs so radically from the ordinary that prices are frequently a full third less. The Rocker is one of the season's most attractive values at $6.75

WEAKENING SHOWN BY SHIP OWNERS.

Indications That Strike Will Not Be Prolonged.

Shortage of Supplies Affecting Prices of Provisions in England.

LONDON, June 28.—The ship owners' association of the United Kingdom met in London this afternoon and adopted resolutions in favor of a moderate increase in the wages of certain sections of the workers at certain points and recommending that the association fix a standard rate for wages. The meeting, however, opposed the demand for the recognition of the sailors and firemen's union.

The attitude of the ship owners showed a weakening from that first assumed toward the strikers. Many of their ships are overdue to sail and this fact, combined with continued pressure on them from the board of trade to effect a conciliation, seems to indicate that the struggle will not be much longer prolonged.

The shortage of butter, bacon and eggs, of which enormous continental supplies are held at Hull by the seamen's strike, is affecting the prices of provisions in England. Millers are giving notice to their staffs to quit work in consequence of the stoppage of the supplies for wheat and flour. A congestion of coal trucks at all the northeastern ports, through the inability to load colliers, is disorganizing the railroads.

WORK AT STANDSTILL.

Four Thousand Dock Hands Join the Liverpool Strikers.

LIVERPOOL, June 28.—Work at the docks here is practically at a standstill, four thousand additional dock hands joined the strikers today. The Cunard, Canadian Pacific Railway, Dominion, White Star, Ellerman and other combined lines are all equally affected.

There is no question of wages involved in this extension of the strike movement. The dockmen are fighting simply for the recognition of their union and the non-employment of non-unionists.

The crews of steamer Haverford of the Red Star line and other liners at the docks here have deserted their vessels in sympathy with the wharf employes.

COMMENCEMENT AT HARVARD COLLEGE.

Alumni Association Holds Exercises Out-of-Doors.

Honorary Degree of Master of Arts for Mr. Fearing.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 27.—In spite of gray skies and threatening showers, Harvard College yard was alive today with Seniors in cap and gowns, faculty members in thier parti-colored doctors' hoods, and alumni of varying ages, who had returned to Cambridge to participate in the exercises connected with the two hundred and seventy-fifth annual commencement of America's most venerable educational institution.

While changes were made this year in some of the details of the commencement observance, in the main the event conforms to the traditional dignified ceremonial. The changes in detail, of which there were two, consisted of an omission and an innovation. For the first time in 75 years, the governor of commonwealth of Massachusetts attended the exercises unaccompanied by his bodyguard of scarlet-coated, uhlan-capped, spear-bearing mounted troop of National Lancers, whose principal military function for three quarters of a century has been to escort the governor from the state house on Beacon Hill to Massachusetts Hall in the Harvard yard.

The innovation was the out-of-door exercises of the Harvard Alumni Association, which for years have been held in Memorial Hall on the afternoon of commencement day. On account of the limited seating capacity of the hall, which necessitated the barring out of most of the younger alumni, it was arranged this year to hold the afternoon event in the quadrangle behind Sever Hall, where large wooden stands had been erected to accommodate the great crowd.

The Commencement exercises began at 10:30 in Sanders Theatre. Fifteen minutes before that time the long procession, headed by President A. Lawrence Lowell and the fellows of the college, and composed of the overseers, faculty members, invited guests, alumni and candidates for degrees formed in front of Massachusetts Hall, the oldest building in the yard, and marched to Sanders Theatre. Owing to the great number of the alumni who have come back for commencement, only those of more than 25 years' standing were permitted to enter Sanders Theatre for the commencement exercises.

The commencement speakers were William C. Greene of Baltimore, Frank E. Crawford of Cambridge, and Frank Stern of Boston, candidates for the degree of bachelor of arts; Arthur E. Wood of Dorchester, candidate for the degree of bachelor of divinity; Tachi Komatsu of Monmouth, Ill., candidate for the degree of master of arts, and John S. Fitch of Albany, N. Y., candidate for the degree of bachelor of laws.

At the conclusion of the dissertations, President Lowell left his elevated seat under the canopy on the stage for the theatre and, seating himself in the ancient chair in which Harvard presidents have conferred degrees for two centuries, awarded the degrees to the candidates who have completed the prescribed courses in the different department of the university and then conferred the honorary degrees, as follows:

Master of arts—John Andrew Sullivan, Boston, former Congressman; William Voorhees Judson, Milwaukee, military engineer, inventor and administrator; Daniel D. Fearing, Newport, R. I., ex-mayor and collector of books; Henry Solon Graves, Washington, chief of the United States forestry; William Bradley Coley, New York, surgeon, medical discoverer and director of medical research; Okakura Kakuso, director of the Japanese department, Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Doctor of laws—Horace Davis, San Francisco, educator and a pioneer citizen of California; John Wilkes Hammond, Cambridge, associate justice of the Massachusetts supreme court; George Von Longerke Meyer, Hamilton, Secretary of the Navy.

BIBELOT CAPTURES EMPEROR'S CUP.

American Yacht Wins Fifth International Race.

German Competitors Badly Beaten in All the Contests.

KIEL, Germany, June 28.—The American yacht Bibelot won the fifth international yacht race today and so captured the Emperor William cup offered for the winner of the series of Sonderklasse competitions. American yacht Beaver was second. The time of the Bibelot was 2 hours, 18 minutes, 1 second, and of the Beaver 2 hours, 18 minutes, 8 seconds.

The winner of the cup is owned by Harry Payne Whitney of the New York Yacht Club and R. E. Bramons of the Eastern Yacht Club. She won three of the five races, the Beaver and American yacht Clima each taking one. German yachts Tilly XIV, Wannsee and Seehund III, were badly beaten, following the three Americans to the finish in every race except the third, in which the Seehund III came in third.

CORONATION GUESTS LEAVING.

King George Present at Royal Agricultural Show in Norwich.

LONDON, June 28.—The heirs to most of the thrones of Europe, the other princes and princesses, and the special ambassadors who have been royal guests during the coronation period, have said farewell to King George and Queen Mary and the greater number have already left London. Throughout today special trains bound for the coast followed one after the other. The Duke of Connaught attended each departure on behalf of His Majesty, while the regular embassies were present to say good by to the envoys of their respective nations.

The great coronation fleet at Spithead also dispersed, the foreign warships saluting the flags of Great Britain and the commander in chief as they passed out.

VEDRINES FIRST TO ARRIVE.

Wins $3,000 Prize Given by Aviation Committee for the Leader.

ROUBAIX, France, June 28.—Great crowds attending the Roubaix exposition were massed in the aerodrome on the exposition grounds today, to welcome the competitors in the international circuit aviation race. Vedrines was the first to arrive, winning the lion's share of the $3,000 prize given by the aviation committee of the exposition for the leaders in the day's flight. Today's stage was from Brussels to the aerodrome here. The airmen were sent away from the start at minute intervals from 10 o'clock. Beaumont took the air first and was followed by Garros, Vidart, Vedrines, Renaux, Gibert, Kimmerling, Duval, Prevot and Wynmalen, in the order named.

Close behind Vedrines at the finish was Garros. He was followed in the order named by Kimmerling, Beaumont, Vidart, Renau, Gibert and Valentine.

DECISION NOT ACCEPTED.

United States Not Contemplating Removal from the Chamizeal Zone.

EL PASO, Texas, June 28.—That the United States government does not contemplate removal from the so-called Chamizeal zone in this city, is attested by the renewal of its leases on the two guard houses maintained thereon by the customs service. The action taken here yesterday is construed to indicate that the United States does not accept the recent decision by the court of arbitration as final.

Funeral of Mrs. James B. Ashley from Her Lifelong Residence on Bristol Ferry Road.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The funeral of Mrs. Amy F. Ashley, widow of James B. Ashley, took place Tuesday at her home on Bristol Ferry road, which had been her lifelong residence. Rev. John Wadsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which she was a member, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. J. Sturgis Pearce of St. Paul's, who read the Scripture lesson from the burial service. A quartet—Miss Louise Chase, Mrs. Ralph C. Freeborn, Mr. B. Archie Chase and Mr. H. Chester Hedley—sang "Garden of Roses," and "I will sing you a song of that beautiful land." Rev. Mr. Wadsworth took for a text upon which to base his remarks the first six words of Luke XVII:4 "I am resolved what to do." The burial was in the Portsmouth cemetery, beside her husband, the bearers being Perry G. Randall, Christopher Manchester, Rowland S. and William H. Chace.

There were several beautiful floral pieces, among them a pillow with the word "Mother" in purple from the children; a flat bouquet of white pinks and asparagus fern tied with lavender gauze, from the Methodist Episcopal church; a wreath from Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Woodman and Miss Lizzie H. Simmons; a wreath from Miss Catherine H. White and other pieces. A number of relatives and friends were present from a distance.

RIFLE RANGE OPENS JULY 22.

Seven Trophies Offered by State and Military Officials to be Competed For.

The state rifle range at Rumford will be opened July 22 for practice by members of the Rhode Island National Guard and kindred military organizations constituting the militia for a period of 11 weeks, closing October 2, according to general orders issued yesterday by Adjutant General Abbot.

The customary regulations with reference to the qualifications and governing practice on the range have been established as in the past. The United States army "A" target will be used on all ranges, and the targets will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. The range at all times will be under the control of the inspector of small-arms practice, and all grievances or protests must be filed with him within two hours after the occurrence.

Seven trophies are offered in competition by members of the militia, given by state and military officials. Governor Pothier will give a suitable trophy, to be known as the "Governor's trophy," for the season of 1911 for the company in the National Guard or Naval Battalion which shall qualify in the combined classes with the rifle the highest percentage of the number of officers and soldiers allowed by law in such company.

Lieutenant Governor Zenas W. Bliss offers for the season of 1911, a suitable trophy for the troop, battery, hospital corps and signal corps in the Rhode Island National Guard which shall qualify in the combined classes with the pistol the highest percentage of the number of officers and enlisted men allowed by law in such organization.

The adjutant general's trophy, given by Brigadier General Charles W. Abbot, is to be competed for by any officer or enlisted man in the National Guard or Naval Battalion who has never qualified better than sharpshooter.

The state of Rhode Island offers a suitable trophy to be competed for, as the "military rifle championship trophy," by any officers and enlisted man in the state militia who has qualified into the expert eclass for the season of 1911.

The district trophy, offered by the state of Rhode Island, is a championship tri-colore to be competed for by teams from the First and Second Artillery Districts.

Major Howard D. Wilcox, ordnance department, inspector of small arms practice, offers a suitable trophy to be competed for by any officer or enlisted man in the state militia who has qualified better than a marksman for the season of 1911, to be known as the revolver championship trophy.

The state of Rhode Island offers a suitable trophy to be competed for by a team from any organization of the Rhode Island National Guard and Naval Battalion.

Only men who have qualified this season will be eligible for entry in the different matches.

No person will be eligible for team entry unless he has performed at least one half of all state duty prescribed by General Statutes, to which he has been liable during the year, and unless he has been mustered into the service at least two months previous to the opening of the rifle competition.

The qualification medals offered by the state in the several classes with rifle include a gold bar for expert, silver bar for sharpshooter and bronze bar for marksmen. The same awards are made in the revolver matches.

"THE SYLVAN CABIN."

Book of Verse by Edward Smyth Jones, the Negro Who Beat His Way East.

"The Sylvan Cabin" is the title of a book of verse by Edward Smyth Jones, who is now in this city and is shortly to be heard here in a public recital. Mr. Jones is a negro, now 30 years old, and so anxious to enter Harvard College to obtain an education that last summer he beat his way east on freight trains. For the first few days after he reached Cambridge he was in jail on a charge of vagrancy, but the case against him was finally dismissed by Judge Arthur P. Stone. To him he has dedicated his first volume, which also has an appreciative introduction by William Stanley Braithwaite, himself a negro poet of recognized merit, and well known in this city. Mr. Jones has been for a year past a student at the Boston Latin School and upon the completion of his course there expects to go to Harvard.

His book contains, besides many verses based upon his struggles to obtain an education and his trying experiences in Cambridge, several rather ambitious efforts. Chief among these are the one which gives its name to the volume, and which is called "A Centenary Ode on the Birth of Lincoln," and "An Ode to Ethiopia." These include some fine passages, though lacking somewhat in clearness, smoothness and facility of workmanship. There are also numerous smaller pieces in lighter vein, among which perhaps the best of all is the "Tribute to Dunbar," with its imaginative second stanza—

"Thrice blessed singer, wrapped in heavenly bliss,
Of earth's poor souls thy fortune who can tell?
Perchance thy splendid lot be solely this;
To change thy lute with the angel Israfel!
If so, then smite thy golden strings
With fingers nimble, strong,
Till all along fair heaven rings
With cadence of thy song—" and its fine closing petition:

"Grant him, O God, unfaltering breath
To sing from heaven afar
A song to cheer our souls in death—
The peerless Paul Dunbar!"

THE WINTER PROGRAM.

Atlantic Torpedo Fleet Destroyers to Drill in Chesapeake Bay and Later at Guantanamo.

Tactical and torpedo drills of the Atlantic torpedo fleet destroyers and submarines will be carried out in Gardiner's and Narragansett bays in September, and gun practice will be held off the capes of the Chesapeake, when the battleships have completed their practice. The smaller vessels will co-operate with the Atlantic fleet in Gardiner's bay during July and part of August, and with the assistance of the vessels of the naval militia will take part in the war game off Narragansett bay during the middle of July. Following their gun practice in the fall the vessels will go into dry dock and then rendezvous at Norfolk and drill in Chesapeake bay during the winter.

While the destroyers are at Charleston transport Dixie will take a relief crew to gunboat Scorpion, now in the Mediterranean. The destroyers will join the Dixie at Guantanamo about the middle of January and combined operations will be carried out with the Atlantic fleet. The torpedo fleet will return to Charleston again about the middle of March and will have target practice on the Southern drill grounds after battle practice is completed. After docking the destroyers and submarines will reassemble at Newport in the early part of June, 1912.

CORNELL BY SIX SECONDS.

Wins the 'Varsity Race from Columbia by Game Finish.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 27.—Cornell won the annual 'Varsity eight-oared race here today by a scant length and a half, crossing the finish line six seconds ahead of Columbia. The New York crew made a great race, leading at the start, only to lose the advantage to Cornell, but regaining it at the two-mile mark. Passing under the bridge, Columbia had a lead of a length, but the strain was too great, and 250 yards from the finish Cornell swept to the front and held the lead to the wire. As Columbia floated over the line, Sage and Downing practically collapsed.

Pennsylvania was third, Wisconsin fourth, and Syracuse a bad last.

Cornell's time was 20 minutes 10 4-5 seconds.

The Columbia Freshmen eight carried off the honors in the youngster division, winning by two lengths from Cornell. Syracuse was third and Pennsylvania but a half-length behind. The Wisconsin Freshmen were a badly outclassed fifth. The official time was: Columbia, 10:13 1-5; Cornell, 10:20 2-5; Syracuse, 10:23 1-5; Pennsylvania, 10:24 4-5; Wisconsin, 10:38.

Syracuse fought hard in the 'Varsity fours, but Cornell took the race by half a length. Columbia finished third, two lengths behind Syracuse, and Pennsylvania fourth, 20 lengths in the rear of the wash. No official time was taken.

Coach Rice's bronzed squad from New York were easily the heroes of the day. Many had picked his 'Varsity to win, and when the Blue and White Freshmen swung down under the bridge to victory over the sturdy Cornell eight, the Columbia colonis cheered madly, and there was a rush of Columbia money to back the 'Varsity's stamina and brawn.

It was Columbia's first victory in 16 years, their 'Varsity crew having won in 1895, the year the Poughkeepsie course was established.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK?

Many Newport People Have Kept Well By Keeping Their Kidneys Well.

The first symptom of kidney trouble may be only a slight pain in the back, a feeling of stiffness or soreness in the loins or some annoying irregularity of the urinary passages. Urine is discolored and sediment gathers upon standing. Next comes a dull, throbbing backache, sharp, knife-like pains, headaches, dizziness and usually lameness when arising in the morning. No one should neglect these symptoms as they become serious. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills, the tried and tested kidney remedy that has cured thousands. Newport readers should find convincing proof of merit in the following statement. It's from a resident of this locality.

W. H. Ackers, 7 Farewell St., Newport, R. I., says: "My kidneys were weak and the kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and contained sediment. There were pains through my sides and loins and I felt badly in every way. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wright & Hay's Drug Store, and I was soon free from kidney complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

TEN PAGES.

A MILLION DOLLARS FOR BROWN.

All the alumni and friends of Brown University must rejoice at the information given by President Faunce at the recent Commencement exercises, that the new million-dollar endowment is nearly half raised and there is a good prospect that the sum will be subscribed in another year. The old college, of which Rhode Island is and should be proud, needs this money. Its endowment is not yet commensurate with the work which it is doing and which its officers and faculty would like to do in the cause of higher education in this state. The institution could use to advantage much more than the sum set for this present project, but the million dollars to be raised will do much toward putting the college on a better footing in the educational world than it can assume without the features which this money will supply.

For some years it has been realized by those intimately connected with the management of the university that there was need particularly of some means of paying larger salaries to the members of the faculty. This is necessary not only to hold professors who are offered much greater compensation elsewhere and to secure new men of the calibre the college deserves to have on its faculty, and needs to have for its highest reputation, but also for the sake of the professors themselves, many of whom remain with the university and stand by it when their best interests call them away to other institutions where more money is offered and a wider if not a more inspiring field. This feeling finally crystallized into this movement for raising a million-dollar endowment, a large part at least of which will be devoted to increasing the salaries of the faculty so that they will be more nearly on a level with those paid by similar institutions.

This is an object which can hardly fail to appeal with directness and force to the alumni of Brown, inasmuch as there are on the faculty at present teachers under whom all but the oldest of the graduates have sat for instruction and who are honored and appreciated by their former students. The alumni know well that the compensation of the professors has not been what it should be, but only what it could be under the existing financial condition of the college, and this effort to improve the conditions so that the deserved and necessary increase can be made should find a strong response among them. While it is proper that the friends of the college who are not also graduates of the institution should give of their abundance, as they always do in the case of a special demand like this, it is particularly fitting that this subscription should be made largely by the alumni. From them it will come as an offering to those who have been among their teachers and have helped give them the start in life which has resulted in placing them in a condition where they can afford to give something, though it may not be much, to this popular movement for the increase of the salaries of those who have served the university long and faithfully and to enable the college to secure the men best fitted to instruct those who are to be the future alumni.

In recent years Brown has been fairly fortunate in material gifts, but has suffered considerably for lack of additions to its general funds, so that it has been difficult at times to keep pace in the administration of the general affairs of the college with the demands made by new buildings and equipment. A few years ago an effort was made similar to the present, for the raising of a million dollars for the endowment of the college, the funds to be used for the general expenses of the institution, but that has not been adequate to meet the necessities as the university has grown and the demands have been greater. This second million dollars when it is secured will, it is believed, go far toward supplying the immediate needs of the college, and particularly will give the opportunity so long desired to add to the salaries of the members of the faculty, and so increase materially the average quality of the teaching force. The movement should be successful and it cannot be doubted that it will succeed.

THE INDIAN ARTS.

In addition to the possession of a sonorous name suggestive of the empire of the Aztecs, Dr. Carlos Montezuma happens to be a full-blooded Apache-Navajo. Therefore he speaks with considerable authority when he takes issue with the Indian bureau as it is, or as it was conducted under Mr. Leupp, and this he has done several times.

That Dr. Montezuma is not a blanket Indian on a reservation but a prosperous physician in Chicago is due to the fact that at the age of four he fell into the hands of white people. He was brought up by them with white boys, educated and completely merged in the population of the United States of America. That destiny he wishes for all the people of his race, but he sees that not many of them will attain it if they are kept rounded up on their reservations.

For many years past it has purported to be the theory of the Indian bureau that the aborigines should be merged in the white population. Whether the means employed by the bureau were favorable to that end is a point on which an amateur perhaps has no right to an opinion. Mr. Leupp we are confident would say that while he was at the head of the Indian service his whole effort was to accustom the Indians to the arts and habits of civilization so that they could mix with and support themselves like the whites, but when Dr. Montezuma entertains a different opinion it must be treated with respect at least.

Doubtless the Indian when civilized loses his picturesqueness and Mr. Leupp may have been too anxious to save the picturesque features of Indian life. He was anxious to preserve Indian art and Indian music. Dr. Montezuma says his people have no art and no music. They certainly have none to be preserved except as museum specimens. No one cares to have Indian art or Indian music cultivated or taught, but Mr. Leupp probably had something of a collector's fancy for the odd, the quaint and the aboriginal. Their art and music, like their tepees and their pueblos, should be treated only as curios.

MR. SABATH ON FOREIGN MARRIAGES.

There is in Congress a member from Chicago who we believe is of foreign birth and who seems to be deeply worried over foreign marriages. His resolution for an investigation by the Department of State of international marriages is probably literally a piece of buncombe, which in its original form was a speech in the North Carolina legislature of no sort of interest or utility to the audience then present but presumed to be of interest to the speaker's constituents in Buncombe county. We assume that Mr. Sabath has constituents who lie awake at night because an American heiress marries a foreign nobleman, though we admit that all the people who are agitated in this way are not in his district, and we cannot imagine why his friends should feel so deeply stirred on the subject.

He wishes Secretary Knox to ascertain why some of the peeresses of American birth had parts assigned to them in the coronation ceremonies, and how much money is remitted to Europe annually to maintain the titles of American women, and information about unhappy international marriages and how much money is spent in the pursuit of coronets.

We should suppose a Chicago man would be a little shy about allusions to unhappy international marriages. The tremendous grist of divorces ground out by the Chicago courts, until one of the judges lately refused to perform a marriage ceremony, is sufficient evidence that many of the domestic marriages are not happy. The money which American heiresses take abroad with them belonged to them or their parents, and was no more a loss to the country than the millions sent abroad for cigars, wines and diamonds. The amount of money which American men sink in European gambling houses would probably compare measurably with the amount spent by American heiresses in supporting their titles. We do not suppose that Mr. Knox will spend much time in inquiring into the things about which Mr. Sabath asks, but we refer to his resolution because all the triviality and impertinence which inspired it are not confined to his district.

AGAINST THE COMMISSION PLAN.

The cities of Hoboken and New Brunswick in New Jersey have rejected Governor Wilson's plan for a commission form of municipal government, the former by 2,000 plurality and the latter two to one against the change. Four cities have now voted on the question, and Trenton is the only one which has adopted the plan. Except in Jersey City, where a special election is to be held soon, no other cities are expected to vote until autumn, but in September a dozen will probably have the matter submitted to the people.

In Hoboken the policemen and firemen were active against the change, fearing a reduction of their salaries. The liquor element was apprehensive that the new commission might put up the license fee, and on the eve of the vote put out flaming posters predicting that if the commission government were established the Sunday observance law would be enforced. The threat that Hoboken might be made dry on the Sabbath turned many votes against the commission plan.

The Advertisers' Protective Association desires that Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry in the Department of Agriculture, be removed from office. In a letter, in which it is said that the organization is composed of manufacturers of foods, drugs and beverages "representing an investment of $400,000,000, whose advertising expenses are annually more than $100,000,000," it is charged that Dr. Wiley has unreasonably and improperly enforced the food and drugs act. There is also a threat that if he is not removed before next January it will be "the endeavor of the organization to obtain a pledge from the next Republican nominee, as well as the Democratic nominee, for the removal of Dr. Wiley before said nominee can obtain the support of the organization."

The British government having sent a favorable answer to the American general arbitration proposal, it is practically assured that President Taft will be able to submit to the Senate before Congress adjourns, a treaty with Great Britain.

Australia's population in ten years has passed that of Ireland and is close to that of Scotland. Australia is growing and in a few years will be one of the largest of the British colonies.

The fog reminds old Newporters of the days when the Yearly Meeting of Friends was held here. Foggy days were not at all unexpected during the stay of the Quakers.

THE CLOSED STONE BRIDGE.

Newport Losing by the Embargo on the Cars and Examination by Engineers Suggested.

The Stone Bridge is still closed to the passage of electric cars, but there is no restriction on other traffic, all sorts of horse-drawn and motor-propelled vehicles carrying tons of merchandise passing and re-passing at will. The electric car traffic was held up promptly upon the announcement of Governor Pothier that he proposed to veto all appropriations in excess of the amount which the state had available to spend. The orders for the cars to cease crossing were unlooked for and became effective within a few hours. There was then a suggestion that other vehicular traffic might also be restricted. The cause alleged was that one of the piers was slipping and heavy loads might cause the leaves to jam in hot weather, so that they could not be opened. Some who have been watching the bridge since say there has been no lessening of the space between the leaves and that the regular service could safely be continued.

Besides the inconvenience to which the car company and its patrons are being put by the enforced transfer, it is said that Newport is losing money by the ban which has been placed on the bridge. This is taken by some to mean that it is unsafe for use, and accordingly, it is alleged, some automobilists and others refuse to use the bridge. At the present time no one seems to know anything about conditions and there has been a suggestion that the car company detail its own engineers to make an examination.

Senator Sanborn expresses his doubts as to the need of closing the bridge and has been endeavoring to prevail upon the commissioners to open it for general use, with special precautions; or, if the commissioners really think the bridge is in bad condition, that they have expert engineers make an examination and render a verdict as to just how much it can be used with safety. The names of Colonel Willard of the engineer corps and Captain J. P. Cotton have been mentioned as engineers who might be available for an unbiased report.

A "WOMAN" THIRTY YEARS.

Fire on Boston Excursion Steamer Discloses Fact That Stewardess Was a Man.

An autopsy performed on the charred body of "Harriet Kelly," stewardess, who was one of the two women burned to death in the fire that destroyed excursion steamer Governor Andrew last Sunday morning, disclosed the fact that "Harriet" was a man. For 30 years "Harriet" had lived as a woman, and was known on the Governor Andrew as a widow.

Friends of "Harriet" say he came from Wolverhampton, England, where he was brought up with a large family of girls. No reason for his masquerading is known. For several years he had been employed as a domestic in families and had always given satisfaction.

Warwick Town Council Shuts Out Tuberculosis Sanatorium—A Golden Wedding.

The Warwick police have struck a promising clue to the identity of the man who shot and killed Patrolman McQuarrie of Apponaug Tuesday morning and are searching for a young Italian employed at the East Greenwich Bleachery, who has disappeared from his boarding place at Riverpoint under suspicious circumstances. Chief of Police Andrews of Warwick, Sheriff Lynch of Kent county, Constable Di Siori of Warwick and Inspector Ahearn of Providence left Riverpoint Tuesday afternoon in an automobile, for New Bedford, where it is understood the missing man has friends or relatives. It was learned that this man, whose name is not made public, was out all Monday night until about 3 o'clock in the morning, when according to his roommate, he returned, immediately changed his clothing, put on a straw hat and left without saying where he was going. In a trunk in the missing man's room was found a large quantity of shirting similar to that made at the East Greenwich mills. It is believed by the police that McQuarrie's slayer had been stealing cloth there and was on his way home when intercepted by McQuarrie.

The Thimble Society, a philanthropic organization which had hoped to establish a sanatorium at the Beach House in Shawomet, for the prevention of tuberculosis among children, received a severe setback through a vote passed by the Warwick town council Tuesday. When the intentions of the society were definitely known citizens interested themselves in an effort to prevent the establishment of the home and presented a petition to the council, calling attention to the fact that the location of such a preventive camp in the village would not only be a menace to the health of the community but would drive away many of the residents. It was a regular meeting day for the council, and there was a full attendance of the members. The body adjourned to executive session, where the matter was considered. When the members emerged from the inner room the following ordinance for the preservation of the health of the inhabitants of the town of Warwick was read by the clerk and passed unanimously: "No person, corporation, co-partnership or unincorporated society shall hereafter locate, establish or maintain in the town of Warwick any hospital, camp, sanitorium or place of retreat for the care, treatment, prevention or cure of any person, not an inhabitant of said town of Warwick, who may be infected with or suffering from tuberculosis, scarlet fever, small pox, measles, diphtheria or membranous croup, or any contagious or infectious disease, without first making application in writing to the town council of said town of Warwick, for permission to locate, establish and maintain any such hospital, camp, sanatorium or place of retreat, as aforesaid."

Mr. and Mrs. William Richmond Talbot, who were married in this city by Rev. Dr. Thatcher Thayer June 27, 1861, observed the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage with a reception Tuesday afternoon at their home in Providence. Many flowers were sent by numerous friends from near and far, including a mass of orchids from Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan of New York, an old school friend of Mrs. Talbot. Other gifts in gold were numerous, including gold coins of all denominations. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot received their guests in the historic Gaspee room, beneath a large floral heart of yellow iris and Marguerites. Mrs. Talbot wearing a gown of gold-colored silk poplin and the orange blossoms which adorned her wedding dress 50 years ago, with her mother's pearls, a family heirloom.

The contract for the new parish house and chancel for Grace Church, Providence, has been awarded and the work of demolishing the old parish building will be commenced next week. The service next Sunday will be the last in the church until next fall. It is announced that Rev. John A. Gardner will be in charge of the parish until the return of the curate, Rev. Henry Blacklock, from abroad, some time in August. Rev. Frank W. Crowder, rector of the church, will spend his vacation in New Hampshire.

The People's Savings Bank of Providence has purchased the four-story stone building on Market square, adjoining the Blackstone Canal, National Bank. Officials state that the People's Bank, not having sufficient room where it is now located on Market square, corner of Canal street, has decided to occupy the new site. It is not known whether the present structure will be renovated for the bank's purposes, or whether it will be torn down and a new building erected. The building figuring in the transaction is directly in the rear of the Providence Board of Trade building and is known in banking circles as the old Roger Williams Bank building. Before that time it was occupied by the National Eagle Bank.

Twenty students appeared before the State Board of Registration in Dentistry at the State House in Providence Tuesday to begin a three days' examination for the purpose of becoming practitioners of dentistry in this state. During the day the extracting and filling of teeth was done free of charge to any one who wished to be operated upon. The examination continues today, when the students try their skill in the art of gold filling. Thursday, the final day of the test, the applicants will be required to pass an examination in the theory of dentistry. The results of the examination will be known in about three weeks.

While sitting at his desk in the city hall in Providence Tuesday, City Clerk William E. Clarke was seized with an attack of vertigo, which for a time caused worriment among his friends in the building. Dr. Chapin, who was in his office at the time, was called, and after administering a stimulant, accompanied Colonel Clarke to his home, in a carriage, where later he was said to be resting comfortably.

THE LUCIFER LETTER.

[Boston Herald.]

Mr. Morgan perhaps thought that Kaiser Wilhelm was the proper person to get the letter which Luther wrote to Charles V and which went astray. There is, however, little connection between the present German empire and that ruled by the Hapsburg prince. The Holy Roman empire of Charlemagne was terminated by Napoleon II in 1806. It was at most a loose confederacy of independent states. Napoleon Henry III of England was once elected emperor. Henry III aspired to the title, as did Francis I and Louis XIV of France. Charles V was king of Spain. A Hapsburg is now emperor of Austria. The modern German empire was created after the Franco-German war in 1871.

THE SHIPS WILL BE HERE.

Senator Wetmore, Congressman O'Shaunessy and Admiral Osterhaus So Say.

Senator Wetmore says the Connecticut and Michigan are to be here on the Fourth, Congressman O'Shaunessy says he is assured that this is to be the case, and Admiral Osterhaus says that as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet he expects them to remain here, so it would seem as if Newport were to enjoy the presence of the ships and have their men in the parade. On the other hand, the Bristol committeeman think the ships have been assigned to them and have queried Congressman Utter, who in turn replies that he is endeavoring to learn just what the situation is at the present time. Senator Lippitt has shed no light on the matter, the committee having failed to hear from him. Several of the ships will still be in navy yards or harbors where the yards are located, and the others will be at the ports, while asked for them long since, as did Newport.

BURNING RUBBISH ON WELLINGTON AVENUE.

It is almost the first of July and the practice of burning rubbish on Wellington avenue is still continued. Tuesday the fire was going just as it has been going right along. When the wind is from the southwest or southeast, the smoke is carried off shore, but when it is from the north it is driven in among the cottages and across the road, and in any event the smoke and fire are a nuisance there at this season. The material burning Tuesday seemed to be clean and the smoke did not smell, but it is no place to burn rubbish at this season.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. E. J. Berwind's launch Truant, Captain Joe Smith, is here for the season.

—Mrs. Carl Berger and her son, Mr. Carl Berger, Jr., have returned from Europe

—Mr. and Mrs. Philip Case will leave Thursday for East Brookfield, Mass., for the summer.

—Mr. Cazeau Pinard arrived today from New York, to open the Pinard cottages for the season.

—Mr. W. G. Roelker, Jr., who has been visiting here, has gone to the Roelker farm at East Greenwich for the summer.

—Mrs. A. B. Kennan and her daughters will return Thursday from the West, and will be at Mrs. Powell's, Touro street.

—Colonel Schuyler Crosby has arrived, to join Mr. Lloyd Phoenix on board steam yacht Intrepid, on which he has been a guest for many seasons.

—The fog continues dense and at times it feels almost like rain. Still, it does not rain, and some of the gardeners say a fault rain would not hurt anything.

—Among the graduates of the Rhode Island Normal School in the class of 1911 were Misses Jane B. Dring, Barbara C. Peckham, Mary I. Leddy and Christine M. Urquhart of this city.

—Miss Kate L. Clarke will leave Saturday for New York, en route for Europe to spend the summer. She will remain a few days in New York, where she will be joined by a party who will accompany her on the trip.

—There was an evidence on Sullivan's wharf this noon of how some people do not look before they leap, when a man plodded through a freshly surfaced granolithic walk. Even when he found it soft he did not turn out.

—The doors of the temporary St. Augustin's Church have been changed to swing outward and repairs have been made to the exterior. The people of the parish are to have a big lawn fete on the church grounds July 4 and are hustling to make it a success.

—Miss A. Paulus, E. C. Jones and A. D. Tillinghast of New York; John Walden of Harrisburg; R. E. Shipley of Spokane, A. Talbot of New Bedford and W. C. Abbott, R. Richborn, Thomas Blagden, Jr., and E. C. Tarr of Boston are registered at the Perry House.

—Dr. T. W. Wood, Jr., formerly of this city, arrived today about 11 o'clock with an automobile party, including Mrs. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. John Landers and the Misses Landers. The party left Boston at 7 o'clock this morning and returned home by a different route.

—The sixth annual ball and reception of the bellmen of the Perry House and Miantonomi Club will take place July 19. There will be a prize waltz. The committee consists of Charles Jackson, Frederick Douglass, Louis Smith, Leon Mitchell, Coleman Jones and A. Jackson.

—W. H. Brightman shipped 136 barrels of scup today. There was a landing of mackerel, the Alert having 1,800. Five swordfish came in, three from the Reliance and two from the Maud Gertrude. Henry Monson landed seven swordfish Tuesday afternoon.

—Mrs. Thomas Powers, wife of Commissary Sergeant Powers of Fort Meyer, who has been visiting old friends here, with her two sons, Thomas and John, is bound for a vacation trip to Ireland. One of her sons has just won a scholarship in the Jesuit school at Washington.

—Looking spick and span after a thorough overhauling and fitting out at the Herreshoffs, schooner yacht Westward, owned by Mr. Alexander S. Cochran of New York, sailed today from Bristol for New London, where she will await her races with Mr. Morton F. Plant's new yacht Elena next month.

—Mr. William A. Depiltch and family today removed to Fall River. Mr. Depiltch came here from that city 30 years ago, was employed as a musician and also enlisted in the government band at the Training Station. He goes back to Fall River to work for the man for whom he worked 30 years ago.

—The fog was so dense Tuesday at 6 o'clock that the rowing race of the Fish Agents' Association was postponed to this evening at the same hour. If the fog still continues as thick as it has been today the race will again be postponed. As one of the agents said, it would be a test of navigation and not of rowing skill to have the race in this fog.

—Tuesday the granolithic workers finished the sidewalk on Connection street and this morning began on West Pelham street, going next to Webster street. The sidewalks already laid on Carroll avenue and Connection street look like good work. They are tooled on the surface, obviating the smoothness of the sidewalks formerly laid and being much better for pedestrians in consequence.

—Despite the seeming appropriateness of the name Old Colony, the big street railway system south of Boston this week changes its name to the Boston & Northern, as that is the title adopted in the formal consolidation of the two systems, which have been working as one for years. Since it has not been customary to label the cars with the name of the operating company for some years, the change will not be very conspicuous to the general

TO BOSTON INSTITUTIONS.

Other Public Bequests and Many Private Legacies in Will of Dr. Weld.

The will of Dr. Charles G. Weld has been filed in the probate court here. It makes a number of public bequests and in brief is as follows:

1—To his wife, Hannah P. Weld, are bequeathed his houses, boats, furniture, horses, books, etc., except such as are otherwise disposed of.

2 and 3—To his mother, Caroline Langdon Weld, and his cousins, Isabel Anderson, wife of Lars Anderson, and Mary B. Sprague, wife of Charles F. Sprague, each the choice of a picture, as they have enough already.

4—To his aunt, Mary Louisa Goddard of Brookline, $50,000.

5—To William A. Gaston of Boston and J. E. Harlow of Brookline, $100,000 in trust for his uncle, George Walker, and on his death to be paid to the Boston dispensary, Ash street, Boston, as a memorial for his grandfather, William F. Weld.

6—To the same trustees, $125,000 in trust for Elizabeth B. Freeman, and on her death to the Boston Lying-In Hospital, as a memorial to his grandfather, William F. Weld.

7—To Lily Maud Lewis, Boston, 100 of his best bonds, each of the value of $1,000, the total to exceed $100,000.

8—His estate in Brookline and Boston, to his wife and daughter for their life, then to the residuary estate.

9—To the daughters of Jose F. Carret and J. H. Allen, $10,000, to be divided equally.

10—To each niece of his grandfather $15,000, and if dead to their children.

11—To Richard M. Allen, Gordon Allen and Russell G. Allen, nephews of his grandfather, $15,000 each.

12—To W. A. Gaston and J. E. Harlow, trustees, $15,000, for his niece, A. Spaulding Weld.

13—To John Reid, Kenneth Finlayson and Rose Connolly, faithful workers, $2,000 each; to Alfred Robert Gaston and John Edward, faithful employes, $5,000 each.

14—To Benjamin Thompson, master of his yacht, Great Admiral, $2,500.

15—To the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, his Japanese collection, known as the Fernolosa Collection, now in its possession.

16—To the Peabody Museum, Salem, possession.

17—The rest is given to the trustees, for his wife and daughter. If his daughter dies without issue the residue estate shall go to the Massachusetts General Hospital and the Institute of Technology.

William A. Gaston and Jonathan E. Harlow are appointed trustees, with the right to select their successors, and it is his will that a trustee when 65 years of age shall resign and make way for a successor.

The will was dated May 22, 1903, and was signed by his wife, Hannah P. Weld, as acceptable in lieu of dower.

A codicil dated September 8, 1906, leaves $50,000 to his executors and $75,000 to J. E. Harlow. The bequest of $2,000 to Kenneth Finlayson is revoked and that to Rose Connolly is increased from $2,00 to $4,000. The estate in Brookline and Boston is to go to these two places for a public park if his daughter dies without issue. The sum of $25,000 is left the Peabody Museum, Salem, Mass.

STOLEN CATBOATS.

Two Men Sent to Jail for Taking One, and Another Recovered After Forty-Eight Hours.

Inspector Tobin and Sergeant Conroy were in the harbor police section Tuesday night and went pirate chasing. The fog predominated and they struck Caesar rock. Sergeant Conroy says walking is good enough for him and that he is not really fitted for sea work, but they caught the "pirates." They were Duncan McLeod and Harry L. Kelloy, and this morning they were given 30 days each in Providence County jail for stealing a catboat valued at $300.

About 10 p. m. Monday Richard Pullen was on board his 30-foot catboat Erin at Spring wharf. He left, and when he returned about 45 minutes later he found the Erin had left. He notified the police. Tuesday night, snuggled away in Agassiz's cove, the Erin was found. Mr. Pullen says he has some pillows and a battery which do not belong to him; probably some other boats were touched. It is known that Manuel Francis has an eight-foot skiff missing, and the same men are suspected.

The police have gathered in Richard Hamilton for safe keeping. He had a ticket for Ireland and $67 in cash and says he lost a hundred-pound note which he had changed when he made up his mind to go Ireland. The trouble with Richard is the sort of "friends" with whom he associates when he begins to celebrate; they have the appropriation idea unduly developed.

NAVAL BIDS OPENED.

At the United States navy pay office this noon the following bids were opened by Pay Director Kerr:

For three electric gears—E. W. Bliss Company, Brooklyn, $400; Fore River Shipbuilding Company, Quincy, Mass., $456.

Toilet—Barker Bros., $109.52; A. L. Mott Iron Works, New York, $172.

Three fire pumps—Knowles Fire Pumps Company, Boston, $1,850.

Two propellers for ferryboat Wave—Herreshoffs Company, $250.

FUNERAL OF JOSEPH LEO SULLIVAN.

The funeral of Joseph Leo Sullivan, who died from the effects of the powder mill explosion near Dover June 24, took place this morning from St. Mary's Church, where a mass of requiem was celebrated by Father Ryan, who assisted by Father Meenan conducted the service for the dead at the close of the mass Mr. J. Frank Aibro sang "Only Waiting" after the service. There was a large attendance, including a big representation of the Torpedo Station employes and members of the Father Mathew Society.

The body was escorted out Broadway by a large number of men and the society, and thence the carriages proceeded to St Columba cemetery. The bearers, all from the Torpedo Station force, were William A. Bliven, John D. Curran, P. Doyle, George Bowman, Richard Stevenson and Richard T. Adams.

There were many handsome floral offerings from Morristown, N. J., and Newport friends, including large pieces from the employes of the Dupont Powder Works, the Torpedo Station

TAFT AND BRYCE CONFER.

Arbitration Treaty With Great Britain Practically Completed.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—After a conference between President Taft and Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain, announcement was made at the White House that the arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain was practically completed, and, with the exception of a few comparatively unimportant details, the terms of the treaty had been agreed upon.

OLD CONVENTION MODERNIZED.

Ratification of Extradition Treaty With France Exchanged.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Ratifications of the extradition treaty between the United States and France have been exchanged at Paris by Ambassador Bacon and the French foreign office. The new treaty merely modernizes the convention it supersedes, by making it apply to a number of offenses which experience has shown should be extraditable.

RAIN THROUGH CORN BELT.

Long Drought and the Heat in Kansas at Last Broken.

TOPEKA, Kansas, June 28.—The drought and heat, which has caused much apprehension in Kansas for three weeks, was broken at an early hour this morning, by showers which were general through the corn belt.

ICE IN WISCONSIN TOWN.

Garden Truck in Coudoray Damaged by Frost.

COUDERAY, Wis., June 28.—The ground all through this section was covered with frost this morning and ice formed on water in small receptacles. Garden truck was damaged considerably.

LIED TO BANKING DEPARTMENT.

Former President of Carnegie Trust Guilty of False Statements.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Joseph B. Reichmann, formerly president of the Carnegie Trust Company, was found guilty today of making false statements to the state banking department. The jury deliberated an hour and a half.

HEAVY FOG OVER THE HUDSON.

Steam Yacht Privater Aground at Foot of New Jersey Palisades.

NEW YORK, June 28.—A thick fog that floated far up the Hudson early today embarrassed scores of craft returning from the inter-collegiate rowing races at Poughkeepsie. By keeping their whistles constantly a-toot, most of the boats managed to make a slow passage down the river, but the Privater, a steam yacht belonging to R. A. C. Smith of New York, ran aground at the foot of the New Jersey palisades near Hastings-on-Hudson. The party on board was transferred to another boat and a wrecking tug is now trying to float the yacht. The craft apparently suffered little if any damage.

FALL FROM A GREAT HEIGHT.

Aviator Heath and Mechanician, Occupants of Biplane, Unhurt.

BOSTON, June 28.—A drop from a height of 100 feet in a disabled biplane to the edge of the treacherous quick sand bordering a muddy pool on the Dorchester marshes, was the exciting experience today of Aviator Eugene Heath of Memphis, Tenn., on his flight as a graduate aviator, and Edward Fleet, a mechanician. The two men went aloft at the Harvard aviation field at Squantum in the biplane owned by Louis Mitchell of Memphis, Tenn. The crank shaft suddenly snapped and the machine shot downward. It sank deep into the quick sand, but Heath and Fleet were able to crawl out uninjured.

SUBMITTED TO LEGISLATURE.

Plan to Compel Railroads to Provide Seats for Those Paying Fares.

BOSTON, June 28.—A plan to compel railroad corporations to provide their passengers with seats and if they are not so provided to charge the passengers only half fare, was submitted to the legislature today. Representative O'Connell of Peabody, who introduced the measure, wants the railroad commission to investigate the advisability of such a requirement.

ARRIVAL CAUSES COMMENT.

Mexican Troops from Juarez Marched to Federal Camp at Tiajuana.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 28.—Two hundred Mexican troops from Juarez arrived in San Diego yesterday in special cars. They were taken to the Mexican line at Tiajuana and marched to the federal camp in the Mexican town. Their guns and ammunition were secretly locked in box cars and under guard of American troops. The arms were delivered to them at the line. The sending of this force to Lower California, after the defeat of Mosby, causes some comment as the country is already virtually cleared of insurrectos and Governor Vigar has enough men of his own to control any situation that might arise.

THE FERRY RESOLUTION.

Simply Provided for Minority Representation on the Board of Directors.

To the Editor of The News:

As the party losing the caucus has been so badly frightened, I would like to explain the resolution introduced at the financial town meeting. It was simply to allow the individual stockholders in the ferry company, who own nearly two-fifths of the stock, to name two of the board of directors, while the town would still have three directors, or the controlling interest. It is a privilege and by just dealing a right which they ought to have, and always did have until it became a political machine and directors were elected who own just stock enough to entitle them to a vote in the board. It is a long established principle among business men that the more stock one owns the more interest he takes, and he is allowed to vote according to the shares he owns. For fear of a discussion of a few business principles, short work was made of the resolution by cutting off all debate by indefinite postponement, and the moderator refusing to allow a ballot to be taken.

TWELVE HUNDRED STRONG.

Methodist Episcopal Sunday Schools of Providence Here on Their Annual Excursion.

The seventh annual union excursion of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday Schools of Providence and their guests arrived here this noon on steamer Warwick, 1,200 strong. Superintendent Bisbee had made arrangements and had a line of cars on hand which extended almost the entire length of Franklin street. The sail down the bay obviously was not so pleasant as on some other days, for the passengers were obliged to remain inside in order not to be saturated by the fog. All the visitors wore badges designating their school, the following Methodist churches being represented: Washington Park, St. Paul's, Asbury Memorial, Hope Street, Cranston Street, Trinity Union, Tabernacle and Matthewson Street.

An elaborate program of sports had been arranged and was scheduled to begin after luncheon. Boys, girls and ministers took a try at the different events. These included 100-yard dash, ball throwing, three-legged race, egg race, etc., for which prizes were given, the awards to be made on the boat on returning home. The games and races were run off under the direction of the following committee on sports: Clarence S. Crosby, chairman; William H. Skeel, Miss Olga Lundin, Fred H. Sherman, Edmund A. Souter, Arthur H. Fielder, Elwin C. Thayer and Miss Ethel L. Lord. The following were the judges: Harry T. Buzzell, J. Irving Davis, Miss E. Gertrude Rockwood.

The Sunday Schools had as guests the members of the Providence Deaconess Home. Mr. William F. Sears was chairman of the committee.

A Sunday School excursion party also arrived shortly after noon on steamer Sagamore from Pawtucket and mingled with the crowd already at the beach.

A feature of the annual picnic of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church at Oakland Farm Tuesday was the athletic sports, which were under the direction of Mr. Vernon Tallman and resulted as follows:

Base ball game between boys and girls, won by the boys (left-handed), 1 to 2.

One hundred yard dash for boys—Won by G. Warren Wilson, August Titus second, James Rothaie, Jr., third.

Counterfeiter of Kansas City Takes Commissioner's Watch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 28.—While the hearing of Frank Jackson, charged with passing counterfeit money, was in progress before United States Commissioner Cook's eye yesterday, the prisoner stole Cook's gold watch. During the hearing the commissioner removed his coat, in a pocket of which was the watch, and hung the garment up near Jackson. Although two officers were guarding the prisoner, he managed to obtain the watch and hide it in his shoe. An hour later Cook's secretary discovered the loss and the watch was taken from the prisoner's cell.

TARIFF MIX-UP PUZZLING.

Room for Almost Anything to Happen in Regard to Legislation.

Canadian Reciprocity Bill May Prove the Entering Wedge in General Reductions.

[Washington Correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, June 27.—There is room for almost anything to happen in regard to tariff legislation with the general mix-up which has been developed. The insurgent Republicans, those who made a fight for lower duties when the Payne-Aldrich bill was before Congress two years ago, seem to have an opportunity to show what they will do with the increased power they have acquired. Both in the House and the Senate there is a strong feeling among Republicans in favor of material downward revision of the tariff, and unless something happens to stave off the movement it is possible that we will see material reductions made.

From the very beginning those who could see the situation clearly have maintained that the Canadian reciprocity agreement was the entering wedge of great tariff reductions. It was inevitable, because those Republican states most seriously affected by the Canadian agreement were sure to retaliate. It looks as if they would have their revenge earlier than was first anticipated.

"Let them pass it. Taft will veto it," was the remark of one of the leading members of the finance committee, speaking of the wool bill. But if the insurgents and Democrats make the wool bill a part of the Canadian reciprocity agreement then Taft cannot veto one without the other.

Would he veto the wool bill? The only reason for so thinking is that the President has not recommended any other kind of tariff revision except the Canadian agreement and has said that other schedules should wait on the report of the tariff board. But he has also said that the present wool schedule was indefensible. Altogether it is quite a wonderful situation which has developed. The extra session may be a real Pandora box.

The regular Republicans in the Senate missed the shrewd manipulations of Senator Aldrich when they were unhorsed by the Democrats and insurgents on the wool bill. Aldrich would have been able to fix up a deal with the Democrats, which would have staved off the inevitable slap at the finance committee and enabled him to carry out his own scheme, whatever it might have been.

Chairman Penrose of the finance committee, on the other hand, denounced the coalition of Democrats and insurgents as demagogism and roused the resentment of the allied forces to such an extent that they "put one over" on the committee of which he is the chairman. Aldrich never failed to win enough Democrats to offset losses on his own side. The successors of Aldrich do not seem to be able to do the same thing.

Senator Bailey had an address more than half a century ago reprinted for [illegible] Senator Haywood of North Carolina, who resigned on account of criticism and was re-elected.

"I did not observe," remarked one captious critic, "that Bailey had printed the address he delivered when he sent his resignation to the governor of Texas March 4 last nor anything he may have said when he recalled that resignation."

It is not to be supposed that the Vice President favors faction or party in the Senate, yet on the day when Penrose reported the wool bill and the free list bill adversely "Sunny Jim" asked if the Pennsylvania Senator wanted the bills "indefinitely postponed." Prompted by this suggestion, Penrose answered in the affirmative, when Democrats and insurgents rushed forward with objections and had the bills placed on the calendar.

"It is usually the course," Sherman afterward explained, "to have bills indefinitely postponed when reported adversely," and he smiled that smile which has given him the name "Sunny Jim."

While the extra session of Congress has prevented many trips of committees to different parts of the country (trips often called junkets), it has not deterred statesmen from making short excursions in the way of inspections. River and harbor works in different parts of the country, more particularly on the Atlantic seaboard, have been visited by members of the committee which will pass upon them in the next annual appropriation bill.

On their own account many members of Congress have been absent from Washington, and owing to the fact that no general legislation is contemplated they have not been missed. It is expected that different committees will make inspection trips when Congress finally adjourns.

Arthur W. Dunn.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I wish to let you know of a couple of recent cures I have made by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. Last August, Mr. —— came to my office, troubled with a severe skin eruption. It was dermatitis in its worst form. It would affect most parts of his body — thighs, elbows, chest, back and abdomen. The itching and burning was dreadful and he would almost tear his skin apart. I recommended all the treatments I could think of, but nothing seemed to help. In the meantime my wife, who was continually suffering with a slight skin trouble, told me she was going to get some of the Cuticura Remedies and give them a trial. I could do nothing to relieve her permanently. She applied the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few days she was completely cured. I lost no time in recommending the Cuticura Remedies to Mr. ——. I told him to wash with warm baths of the Cuticura Soap and to apply the Cuticura Ointment generously. From the very first day's use of the Cuticura Remedies he was greatly relieved and to-day he is completely cured through their use. I have great faith in the Cuticura Remedies now that I am convinced of their wonderful merits." (Signed) B. L. Whitehead, M. D., 108 Dartmouth St., Boston, Mass., July 22, '10.

NEW ENGLAND YEARLY MEETING.

were governors during the early years. Altogether Friends occupied the governor's chair for 35 terms, and the deputy governorship for many more, one Friend, Walter Clarke, being deputy governor continuously for 14 terms. Governor John Wanton, who was one of the leading Quaker preachers of his time, and who sat in the ministers' gallery in a bright scarlet cloak, was seven times governor and four times deputy governor.

Stephen Hopkins, one of the greatest figures in the Colonial period of Rhode Island, who was nine times governor, for many years chief justice of the colony, one of the greatest exponents of "no taxation without representation," a delegate to all the Colonial congresses, and a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was a Friend until 1774, when he was disowned for possessing a single slave. It will therefore be seen that Quakerism in those times was a very lively affair, and that the members of this Yearly Meeting were persons of weight and influence in the world of events.

Until 1695 this Yearly Meeting included all Friends on Long Island and "the mainland" of New York, as the early records call it, so that from far away Piscataqua in the east to the little metropolis on Manhattan island in the west Friends came up to the great annual feast. Almost every year there were visiting ministers present from England, and also from the new and wonderful Philadelphia, from Maryland, Virginia and the Carolinas, and occasionally from Barbadoes and the other West Indies to which we now send missionaries!

Then, for the first time in history, a yearly meeting was set off from its parent, and Long Island Yearly Meeting was created as an independent body. In 1699, this Yearly Meeting adopted the plan of having representatives attend from the subordinate meetings—"two Friends from each Quarterly Meeting," etc., "and as many other sober Friends as hath freedom."

In 1701 the custom of "Queries" to discover the state of the Society, and as a sort of private confessional for individuals, was adopted. It was not until 1755 that formal answers were returned.

Great multitudes flocked to Yearly Meeting. John Fothergill attended it in 1722, and reports 2,000 present. What is more, he says there was "a demonstration of the power of God and a confirmation of many souls." Edmund Packover, an English Friend, attended in 1743, and says there were not less than 5,000 persons present. He writes: "I never was at so large a meeting before—a most solemn weighty awful (awe-inspiring) time. People from 150 miles to the eastward came to it." That means that Maine was already beginning to be heard from!

Samuel Fothergill was the next great ministerial visitor. His "concern" for this visit had been upon his mind for 10 years. He came just after New England had been swept by what is still known as the "great religious awakening," led by George Whitfield and Jonathan Edwards. It was in 1756 and he says New England Yearly Meeting had the largest attendance of any yearly meeting in the world, and that the power of it brought the deepest reverence upon his soul and tears of joy and comfort to his eyes.

The session of 1760 was a memorable one. John Woolman, one of the most consummate flowers of Quaker saintliood, was present. These were days when Friends of wealth and station held slaves, and even traded in them. He heard that a cargo of Africans had just arrived at a Newport dock. They were being sold by a member of the meeting. He could not eat or sleep. Finally "under deep exercise," he opened his mind in the meeting and pointed out how the deep-seated malady of slaveholding was affecting the spirit of life among Friends. His words worked a silent revolution; within 15 years the skirts of New England Friends were clean of this ancient stain.

But one more event out of the far past is mentioned—a mission of love. A "Meeting for Sufferings" was established in 1775, and it worked for the relief of Boston and vicinity. An enormous sum for that time, 1,968 pounds sterling, was raised, and used to supply food, wood and clothes for the Massachusetts sufferers. In Salem these Friends, with the selectmen of the town, distributed relief through the very streets where Quakers had been whipped at the cart's tail, and Salem twice gave Friends a "vote of thanks."

The young men and women Argonauts of the "Woodhouse" planted the seed here in great faith, and in vision saw it spreading as the sand of the sea in multitude. The sufferings and endurance of early Friends are almost beyond belief. They lay in unspeakable jails, were beaten with tarred ropes and knotted cords, were kept without food and warmth, were branded with hot irons, had their ears cropped off, and four of them died as martyrs on the scaffold. The dust of one still mingles with the soil of Boston Common. There is little to be expected of that religion which has fallen to the level of habit and routine, which runs only by the waning momentum of the past. There must be first-hand experience and conviction. What we need is not more machinery, but better contact with the living current. All things are possible when the Divine power finds a good human organ to work through.

Rev. Mr. Kimber then read the original poem written by Walter S. Meader of New Hampshire, clerk of the New England Yearly Meeting, in which it appears that George Fox did "quake" and made the earth to shake; and even in "Boston's bloody den" peace dwelt in the hearts of the Friends and the inward light burned all the brighter. The portions of the poem which relate more particularly to Newport are as follows:

Poem by Walter S. Meader.

Not in these cloistered groves of studious ease,
Where quiet meditation woos the soul,
Did our forefathers meet, but where the sea's
Wild waves on wild Aquidneck loudly roll.

Not in these times of peace, when conscience free,
All men may think and worship as they will,
But while the martyr fight for liberty
Round Boston's "bloody den" was raging still.

And yet how deep the peace those fathers knew,
How clear they heard the still small voice of God,
And how the "light within" still brighter grew,
As they remained obedient to the Word!

In New England's month of flowers,
Sixteen hundred sixty one,
On the Isle of Aquidny
Our Yearly Meeting was begun.

Then from all the country round,
In their boats or through the wood,
Thronged the quakers old and young
At the call of Hofe the good.

Up from Salem came the "seed,"
From Boston, Roxbury and Lynn,
Duxbury, Sandwich, Providence Friends,
All led by the light within.

Coddington, Coggeshall, Easton and Clarke
Lovingly welcomed the pilgrims there,
Opened their houses, opened their hearts;
Hunted and whipped find refuge here.

Under the trees and in the house
Gathered the people unto the Lord,
Seekers and sufferers peace find at last,
Filled with the spirit, fed on the Word.

* * * * *

Thus burning messages were given,
By those whom suffering had made whole,
Spirit and power, flowing through them,
Knit the Friends there soul to soul.

Martyr fires and altar coals
Warmed the heart and touched the head.
Christ was there to grace the feast,
And many passed the broken bread.

In love and unity they part,
Promising each year's return;
Each carries home a glowing heart
And zeal for God of knowledge born.

Let us who bear the name of Friends
Possess their spirit, courage, faith,
Their zeal to do his will, and hear
"Ye are my friends," the Master saith.

Other Addresses.

Rev. Mr. Kimber said the early Friends used to arrive in the United States by way of Barbadoes. A large cemetery, in which Friends were buried, has been found there. An important part of "Friends' Discipline" is a lette rfrom George Fox to the governor of Barbadoes. Jefferson W. Ford of Iowa, Friends' missionary to Jamaica and president of the Christian Endeavor Union of that Island, was announced to speak.

Mr. Ford said the early Friends were great missionaries and spoke of the present work in many fields. Due south from Washington is the Jamaica Mission, where the speaker labors. Without warning, the lights being turned off, a series of stereopticon views of this mission was thrown upon the wall. Mr. Ford made an appeal for more workers to fill the depleted arngs at this station.

Rev. Mr. Kimber mentioned old Friends—David Buffum, George Bowen, Marmaduke Cope, Rowland Sherman and others—and said no account of New England Yearly Meeting is complete which omits its mission covering the Holy Land. This account was made doubly interesting by more stereopticon pictures.

The concluding exercises were fittingly held in the quaint old low-studded, original meeting-house, now the upper part of the north wing, which used to have "high seats" and where George Bowen was superintendent of the Sunday School. It is not generally known that a story was placed under this original little meeting-place, and it will be news to many that the section next south of it was a meeting-house bought from another denomination, moved, and joined to the first section. The south wing was built in 1816.

With the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and prayer by Mr. Ford, the celebration ended, Mr. Kimber distributing souvenir pictures of the meeting-house to those present.

MIDDLETOWN.

Body of Charles H. Tilley Interred in Family Lot—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Blair's Shower.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Following funeral services for the late Charles Henry Tilley in Providence Tuesday, the body was interred in the family lot at the Middletown Cemetery in the afternoon. The hearse was met at the entrance to the cemetery by the Middletown bearers, Joel Peckham, Charles H. Ward, Charles Peckham and Joseph A. Peckham—who escorted it to the grave. The black broadcloth casket was encased in a light oak box and was opened at the grave to permit relatives and friends who could not reach Providence, a last look at the deceased. The committal services were conducted by Rev. Dorrance B. Lothrop of the Roger Williams Free Baptist Church, Providence.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers, including five wreaths and many large sprays. Among them was a pillow of roses, Easter lilies and pinks, with the words "At Rest," in purple letters, from the family; a pillow of carnations and pinks and white roses, bearing on gauze, in purple lettering, the words, "Friend," from the Prohibition party of Providence, and a star of pink and white carnations and ferns, with the purple letters, "G. A. R. 10."

Mr. Tilley leaves a widow, Mrs. Annie Tilley; two children, Mr Edward Tilley and Mrs. Winnie Eldredge, and five grandsons, all of whom reside in Providence. The party returned Tuesday afternoon, remaining in Middletown but a short time.

Mr. Tilley had been quite helpless for the past six months and a constant sufferer. Mrs. Tilley, who fell last December and fractured her hip, had so far recovered as to be able to move about with only a slight difficulty.

While the weather report of Monday predicted "showers for Tuesday," Mr. and Mrs. John D. Blair and their daughter, Mrs. Emmie Le Valley, of BeBrkeley avenue, were in no way prepared for the "miscellaneous shower" which fell Tuesday afternoon in their vicinity. The affair had been so carefully planned that no inkling reached the recipients and a complete surprise was the happy result.

The guests assembled at 3 o'clock and came well laden, not only with gifts but with material for a collation, which included cake, fancy crackers, fruit, coffee, tea and lemonade. The party, 35 or more, spent the afternoon in a social way, filling the house and occupying the front lawn. Mr. Blair was drawn out in a rocking chair to a platform arranged at the front door, where he greatly enjoyed the proceedings. Among the numerous gifts was a profusion of flowers and several sums of money.

Mr. Blair, who has been an invalid for the past year and a half, in quite helpless, although able to be dressed and to sit up in an easy chair.

Miss Flora C. Tourtellotte, who has been teaching at the Witherbee school the past year, has erected a bungalow at Rocky Point, where she is spending the summer with her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Herbert Ward have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Lionel H. Peabody, in Providence.

NEW YORK LETTER.

Water Famine Starts Discussion on Usefulness of Daily Bath.

Steamship War Lowers Rates—New Plan to Increase Efficiency of Postoffice Department.

[Correspondence of The News.]

NEW YORK, June 27.—To bathe, or not to bathe, promises to become an important municipal question in this city as a result of the threatened water shortage and the proposal to instal meters in all Manhattan buildings and to impose a tax for all water consumed above a certain fixed amount. Mayor Gaynor, who has a supply of original opinions on all questions that arise to vex the popular mind, has gone on record against the proposal to measure the water supply. His view is that the thought of the water meter busily clicking off each gallon consumed would cause the heads of families to become peevish whenever their wives or children took a bath. Apparently His Honor holds to the opinion that the daily bath is a habit confined chiefly to the feminine and juvenile elements of the population.

On the other hand a distinguished editor has made the assertion that one bath a week should be sufficient to satisfy the most fastidious, and medical authorities have arisen to point out that excessive bathing is injurious to the body because it removes the protective covering of the skin and gives readier access to the dangerous microbes that are blown about with the dust of city streets. In support of this position statistics are adduced to show that cases of extreme longevity are almost invariably found among non-bathers.

Meanwhile, with a daily consumption of 350,000,000 gallons far greater in proportion to its population than that of any other city in the world and greater than the entire Croton watershed can supply if the rainfall sinks below the average, the ordinary citizen is wondering whether civic patriotism compels him to forego his desire for cleanliness. One prolific cause of waste is being ended by orders requiring the repair of all plumbing leaks and the plumbers' wives are planning lavish summer vacations in consequence. The question is not so pressing as it might be otherwise in view of the fact that the severe rainstorms, which have surprised the metropolis on 12 of the past 14 days, have given most of its inhabitants involuntary and unwelcome baths.

One of the liveliest rate wars that has ever taken place here is interesting New Yorkers at the present moment. The warfare is being waged by the rival steamship companies operating between this port and Bermuda. As the contest has increased in bitterness the transportation rates have gone tumbling. Successive cuts have reduced the cost of a trip to the land of lilies and onions to $10, and one of the lines is now offering to carry passengers on a round trip to the islands including a three days' stop in one of the leading hotels and all expense for $18. As well-informed transportation men compute that at this figure the company will lose an amount at least equal to this on every passenger carried, the struggle is not likely to continue very long.

There have been rumors of an impending rate war among the trans-Atlantic lines, but this seems unlikely for while competition is keen among the various lines they have learned by bitter experience that wars of rates are ruinously expensive and injurious to the public as well as to themselves. An article in the July number of the Outlook tells of some of these contests in the past in which third class tickets from Europe to the United States fell as low as $10, half of which in many cases went to the booking agents. It is pointed out by the article that those very conditions were what led to the adoption of what is known as the Atlantic conference which agrees upon rates, makes differentials for older and slower boats and provides an equalization of rates and services.

In this matter the steamship lines are following the lead of the railways in their agreements for the handling of immigrant traffic, which has been investigated and approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is figured that a rate war between the big Atlantic lines such as is now raging among the Bermuda companies would involve a loss of at least $2,000,000 a month, an amount that in the end would have to be made good by the public, of course.

A new solution of the problem of increasing the efficiency of the Postoffice Department which will make that institution self-supporting and perhaps make possible a reduction of letter postage without advancing rates on magazines, has been put forward by a New York statistician who has been making an extended study of the subject. The remedy he proposes is nothing less than the retirement of all postmasters who hold office by Presidential appointment and the filling of their positions by promotions from the ranks of postal workers, who possess expert knowledge of postoffice affairs. "The Presidential postmasters are, in nearly all instances, business or professional men who continue to follow their own calling after receiving their appointment," he argues. "Their efforts to reverse and their services could easily be dispensed with without interference with the revenue or efficiency of the service."

In support of his position he points out that between 1900 and 1910 there was an actual decrease of 17.45 in the number of postoffices in the country, while the amount paid to postmasters and their assistants and clerks increased over $35,000,000 or more than 100 per cent. In the same period, the amount paid for mail transportation advanced only $26,000,000 or 35 per cent, an increase far less than the growth in the amount of mail handled, showing that there was a decided falling off in the rate of remuneration of the railways for carrying mail at the same time that postmasters' salaries were more than doubled.

Much of this increase, it is held, could be saved by abolishing ornamental postmasters and giving their positions to the trained assistants who now do the work. This action, it is declared, would remove the question of second rate postage as a political issue. When the matter was broached to President Taft recently he pointed out that he had recommended the inclusion of all postmasters in the classified service as long ago as 1910, but that Congress had made no move to adopt the suggestion and to introduce economy by doing away with the useless political postmaster.

Few days are allowed to pass without the announcement of some record-breaking feat of construction proposed for this city. Last week, plans were made public for the largest commercial building in the world to replace Madison Square Garden. This week, it is announced that the tallest hotel in the world is to be erected on Seventh avenue in a section heretofore given over chiefly to old clothes dealers and other shops of queer, if not questionable, traffic. The plans for the new building indicate, however, the expectation that with the construction of one of the new subways along this street it will soon become one of the city's most important thoroughfares. The new hotel of skyscraping height is to have 24 stories and 1,200 rooms and will be exceeded in size by only two or three hotel buildings in the world.

The peculiar feature of the new structure, however, is that all the rooms are to have a southern exposure, which is the only one that insures a cool summer breeze in New York. This will be accomplished by having the building divided by several courts so that there will be but one tier of rooms in each section. The life of the hotel clerk in the new establishment is expected to be one continuous round of joy, since he will be able to give every guest just the sort of location he is most certain to demand.

A municipal need, the existence of which had not been suspected by most of the citizens of Greater New York, has just been discovered by a member of the state legislature representing the borough of Queens. This statesman believes that New York city requires a department of agriculture and has written to the mayor urging the inclusion in the new city charter of some provision to "stimulate and direct intensive gardening, fruit and berry raising." It is explained in support of this surprising demand that there is something like 10,000 acres of vacant land within the limits of the greater city. Most of this is in small scatterd lots, but it is held by the originator of the plan that if it can be brought under cultivation until it is needed for building purposes, a considerable sum will be realized and employment will be furnished to several thousands of those who are now infrequently employed. The plan is being seriously advocated by its projector and, if it is adopted New York may become a competitor of the more thoroughly rural counties of the state as an exhibitor of prize pumpkins and fig apples at the various agricultural exhibitions.

OVER NIAGARA FALLS.

Beachey Skims the Horseshoe and Goes Under the Bridge.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 27.—With his biplane apparently almost skimming the surface of the roaring waters, Lincoln Beachey, the California aviator, drove the machine over the Horseshoe Falls late today and then swooped beneath the arches of the upper steel bridge and swept down the gorge at a mile-a-minute speed almost to the whirlpool. Rising again, between the precipitous sides of the lower river, Beachey soared to the Canadian side, where he made a successful landing.

It was the first time a bird man had cut through the air currents and mist clouds and leaping foam caused by Niagara's falls and rapids that have lured so many adventurers to their death. In the exploit, witnessed by 150,000 persons, the whir of his motor was drowned in the grumble of the cataract, and man and machine were lost to view at the most critical moment in the smother of spray and mist.

Throngs on the American and Canadian shores, on the three sister islands and on the bridge, gazed at the aviator as he rose to a height of about 2,000 feet, twice circled above the cataract and then made the long swoop upward the narrow passage under the bridge.

His biplane came racing over the Horseshoe falls so low that he was obliterated from view for an instant, and then winged close to the water, perilously close it seemed to those above.

The machine, resembling a huge swallow, seemed barely to clear the water and he made the bridge passage midway between the two abutments and about 75 feet below the lowest steel girders of the structure.

Passing the bridge, Beachey continued on down the gorge almost to the whirlpool rapids, clearing the water by not more than 30 feet, and his biplane dipped unevenly in the peculiar air currents encountered in the deep pocket.

There was a cry of relief from the crowd when the thrilled spectators saw the biplane at last soar to a higher altitude and, clearing the wooded Canadian bank by a narrow margin, sail away in safety.

Once over the cataract, he lowered his plane and, rushing with the wind at a speed estimated at 60 miles an hour, he dipped quickly under the arch. As he did so he caught some of the wash of the outlet of the power tunnel which shoots out from the rocky side of the precipice at that point. At no time from his final dip until the time he was clear of the structure was the biplane more than 30 feet above the spume.

The space through which he flew was 168 feet in height and barely 100 feet from side to side. The distance from the bank of the falls to the bridge in which he made the dip is about 400 yards.

DAUGHTER BECOMES SOLE HEIR.

Settlement Out of Court of Contest of Mrs. Ole Bull's Will.

BOSTON, June 27.—Mrs. Olea Bull Vaughn became late today the sole heir to the $500,000 estate left by her mother, Mrs. Olo Bull, widow of the famous Norwegian violinist. The legal contest which has been waged over the property, attracting attention throughout this country and causing widespread regret in Norway, was brought to an end by the terms of an agreement reached out of court. The trial in the probate court of York county, Maine, already of several weeks' duration, came to an abrupt close, a series of conferences held here today between the opposing counsel resulting in a decision to offer no more testimony.

While the details of the settlement were not given out, it was stated that the lawyers had reached an agreement upon an adjustment of the contest involving the setting aside of the will, and that Mrs. Vaughn would be the sole heir and can do as she likes with the property. By next Monday the lawyers hope to have all the details of the agreement arranged and ready to be submitted to the court.

The will offered for probate, disposing of an estate valued at about $500,000, provides liberally for Mrs. Bull's associates and instructors in the study of Hindu mysticism, left a substantial amount to her brother, Joseph G. Thorp of Cambridge, who was named as one of the executors, and made only a small bequest to Mrs. Bull's daughter, Mrs. Vaughn, who was her only child. The will also provided that Mrs. Bull's body should be cremated and the ashes strewn over the grave of her famous husband in Norway.

Mrs. Vaughn contested the will on the ground that her mother's mind had been so affected by her associations with Hindu mystics, several of whom had been inmates of her home at various times, that she was unable to make a rational disposition of her estate. Mrs. Vaughn claimed that Mrs. Bull's friends had come between mother and daughter, poisoning Mrs. Bull's mind against Mrs. Vaughn.

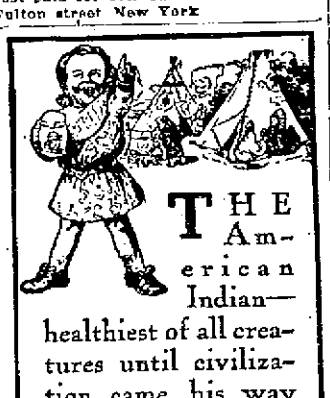

In the course of the hearings at Alfred, Maine, and Biddeford, Maine, testimony was given as to many strange actions of Mrs. Bull and her associates, including various mystic "meditations," "exercises" and dietary practices. Witnesses said that strange Indian medicines, which had a peculiar effect, were administered to Mrs. Bull when she was ill. While some witnesses testified on Mrs. Bull's affection for her daughter, it was brought out that of late years the daughter was not permitted to visit her mother at Cambridge, except when some of Mrs. Bull's friends were present.

Anty Drudge Goes Shopping on Washday.

Anty Drudge—"Is there anything I can get you downtown, Mrs. Weary? I am going shopping this afternoon."

Mrs. Weary—"What! Shopping on washday! Why, I've just got my clothes ready for the line."

Anty Drudge—"And mine are all ironed. I'm not a bit tired, either, so I'll spend the afternoon at the bargain counters. If you had washed the Fels-Naptha way, you could join me."

Fels-Naptha soap will make kitchen work easier, just as it does the washing of clothes. Fels-Naptha will clean anything that is cleanable, and do it far better and quicker than any other soap.

Try it on your pots, pans, dishes and other kitchen utensils. It will "cut" the grease quick as a wink and leave them bright and shiny. It will clean glassware and china, and polish them at the same time.

And because it will do this far better in cold or lukewarm water, there is no danger of breaking fragile glass and china by putting them in scalding water.

Kitchen sinks, shelves, cupboard and floor should all be scrubbed with Fels-Naptha. It whitens woodwork as well as cleans it, and neither roaches nor ants will infest a kitchen where the cleaning is regularly done with Fels-Naptha, and chips of the soap placed where they congregate.

HAVE YOU DECIDED THAT BEING A "LANDLORD" IS NO JOKE?

A succession of undesirable tenants will soon make your ownership of property something of a calamity. Losses from non-collection of rents, from repairs that shouldn't have been needed, and from periods of "property idleness"—those things which are preventable only through adequate advertising will make you "property poor."

Advertisements for situations or servants, of lost and found, rooms or tenements to let, or "for sale," of 25 words or less, set close will be inserted once for 25 cents, twice for 35 cents, three times for 45 cents or six times for 75 cents.

PETITION FOR INJUNCTION.

Filed Against United Shoe Workers by J. L. Walker & Co. in Lynn.

LYNN, June 28.—The shoe manufacturing firm of J. L. Walker & Co., filed in the superior court today a petition for an injunction against the officers and members of the United Shoe Workers of America, restraining them from declaring a sympathetic strike with the ironers, ten of whom have been out on strike two weeks, because of the firm's refusal to grant an increase in wages. The ironers are affiliated with the United Shoe Workers of America and it is understood the United Shoe Workers have approved of the ironers' action. Since the strike began, other unions affiliated with the United Shoe Workers of America have, according to the officials of the company, presented demands for increased wages and in every case the demands have been refused. The agreements on the petition for the injunction will be heard in the equity session of the superior court at Boston tomorrow.

The Japanese players will sail today for Honolulu, where they will play a month's series before returning to Japan.

EXCLUDED FROM THE ROOM.

Lorimer Committee Unwilling for Him to Hear the Testimony.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Edward Hines, the Chicago lumber millionaire, who it has been testified had said he "put Lorimer over at Springfield," was today excluded from the room where the Senate committee is holding its investigation into the election of Senator Lorimer. This action was taken by the committee at an executive session. The committee considered it inadvisable that Mr. Hines should be permitted to listen to the testimony.

Rush Culver, a lumber man and lawyer of L'Anse, Mich, was the first witness today. When the Lorimer investigation was on before the Helm committee of the Illinois legislature, Shelly B. Jones of Marquette, Mich., was reported to have stated that Culver was present on an occasion in 1909 when Edward Hines, millionaire lumberman, declared he had "just succeeded in making a United States Senator that cost $100,0000." Jones testified yesterday that the conversation was in 1907 and was simply that Lorimer's election, presumably to the House, probably "cost a barrel of money."

Mr. Culver began his testimony by saying he had been mayor of Marquette, Mich. He then told of business relations with Hines.

Contradicting some of the testimony at the Springfield investigation, he said he had not seen Hines since Lorimer's election to the Senate. He continued: "I have no recollection of discussing Senator Lorimer with Hines. On one of two occasions he told me he was friendly to Lorimer and it seems to me once in Chicago we saw some wagons of the Edward Hines Lumber Company, decorated with "Vote for Lorimer." It seems to me Mr. Hines had said to me that he had been in the habit of helping Senator Lorimer. He certainly referred to Congressional elections. My memory is that he said he would decorate wagons for Lorimer and would help him raise campaign funds."

The witness could not remember a conversation in Shelly B. Jones's drug store in 1907, or at any other time, when Jones is said to have declared that Hines referred to the Lorimer election as costing "a barrel of money."

TRADE SUGAR WARS CEASING.

Gilmore of Arbuckle Brothers Before Trust Inquiry Board.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—William G. Gilmore, of the firm of Arbuckle Brothers, of Brooklyn told the House "Sugar Trust" investigating committee today that trade sugar wars in this country had practically ceased and that conditions in the trade were very fair, though not ideal.

"Where do the conditions fall short?" Representative Madison asked.

"The cane sugar refiners are not making enough money." He attributed this to over-production, too much refining capacity, the beet sugar industry as now protected, etc.

"If we took the duty off sugar what would happen?"

"Cheaper sugar. We'd operate with half the total and the beet sugar people would be kept at home. We do not like it when the beet sugar people, with a hot house protection, invade our territory."

"Then you want free trade in sugar?"

"Personally I am of that mind."

"Have you any reason to believe that any unfair attacks have been made upon you by the present regime in the American Sugar Refining Co.?"

"No. Of course they are not long in their new chairs and we are keeping a watchful eye on them. I think the new men in the company are good men; that they should not be charged with the sins of the past."

Mr. Gilmore described the war made on the American Sugar Refining Company by his firm in 1898-99. The Arbuckles began manufacturing refined sugar in 1898 and since then have been independent of the trust.

"Is that sugar war between you and the American going on now?" asked Chairman Hardwick.

"No", Mr. Gilmore answered. "There is no war, but there is an armed neutrality. We are watching the other fellow and doing the best we can for ourselves".

That there ever had been, during the war, any conference of the Arbuckle firm with Henry O. Havemeyer to secure a working agreement Mr. Gilmore denied.

John Arbuckle, president of the company, the witness said, would know positively about such a matter. He is 74 years old and very feeble, and a trip to Washington, Mr. Gilmore feared, would endanger his life.

Mr. Gilmore testified that his company had made a contract to employ as an expert refiner Ernest Gerbracht, who later was indicted in connection with the weighing frauds charged against the American. Gerbracht did no work, he said, for when he was indicted they gave him $15,000 called for by his contract and let him go.

WITNESS CRUELLY TORTURED.

Mrs. McManigal of Los Angeles Goes Through Trying Ordeal.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 28.—Mrs. Ortie E. McManigal's attorneys, Clarence S Darrow, Joseph Scott, Lecompte Davis and Job Harriman, last night issued a statement in which they declared: "It is difficult to characterize in temperate language their opinion of the cruel treatment accorded Mrs. McManigal yesterday." They declared that the district attorneys, under the subterfuge that contempt proceedings against her were to be instituted, because of her failing to testify for an hour and a half, "tortured her to such an extent of mental and bodily extremity that she finally fainted" and required a physician to restore her. It was said by her attorneys that the prosecution offered to send Mrs. Manigal to a hospital, if she desired to go, but that she steadfastly asked to be permitted to return to her attorneys.

Arthur Veitch, deputy district attorney, stated positively that there had been no "third degree" methods used in connection with Mrs. McManigal and declared equally positively in answer to a question about a rumor that McManigal at last had been promised complete immunity, that such was not, and would not be the case. Veitch said it was the intention to recall Mrs. McManigal before the grand jury today.

CUMMINS OFFERS AMENDMENT.

No Attempt Made to Fix Date for Vote on Reciprocity Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Referring to the consideration of the Canadian reciprocity question as the "drama now in progress in the Senate of the United States," Senator Cummins of Iowa today delivered a speech on the reciprocity bill and offered important amendments to its agricultural provision.

No attempt was made by the Republican leaders at the opening of the session to fix a date for a vote on the bill. Senator Cummins said it was apparent that Republicans and Democrats favoring the bill had determined to submit to the repeated statement that the President will accept no amendments to the Canadian agreement. "I make no comment on this situation," said he, "save that it seems to be an abdication of the duties of the Senate and an abandonment of its responsibilities."

Senator Cummins attacked the combination of regular Republicans and Democrats to pass the reciprocity bill. The bill, he said, would accomplish only two important things, admit free of duty the agricultural products of Canada, and admit a small quantity of wood pulp and print paper.

After the passage of the bill through this combination, Senator Cummins said the Democrats expected to make a combination with Republicans, who favor tariff revision, to pass other bills. "It is perfectly plain to me," he added, "that the Republicans whom I have mentioned will be valiant enough in defense of the high duties or the rich and powerful manufacturers."

Senator Cummins's amendment proposed to admit free from Canada other raw and manufactured agricultural products, including fresh meats, canned meat, barley, malt, flour, iron, steel, woolen goods, cotton goods, silk and leather goods.

FOR A HOUSE OF 433.

Senate Committee Agrees to Report Re-Apportionment Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Senate committee on census today agreed to report the Congressional re-apportionment bill without amendment, providing for 433 Representatives, notwithstanding practically all the committee members had expressed themselves as opposed to the increased representation.

DR. CARMICHEL PRESIDENT.

Philadelphia Physician Chosen Head of Homeopathic Association.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, June 28.—The results of yesterday's balloting for officers of the American Institute of Homeopathy were announced this afternoon and showed that Dr. Thomas H. Carmichel of Philadelphia was elected president, by a vote of 144 to 105 over Dr. Herbert Dana Schenck of New York. There was no choice for first vice president, neither of the three candidates, Dr. S. William Dieffenbach of New York, Clifford Mitchell of Chicago, and Margaret Bassler of Reading, Pa., receiving a majority of the votes cast. Another election for this office was held today. The other officers elected were: Second vice president, Dr. Clara Gary, Boston; censor for four years, Dr. W. A. Paul, Boston; censor for five years, Dr. A. C. Cowperthwaite, Chicago; trustees, Dr. Joseph P. Cobb, Chicago; Dr. George Royal, Des Moines, Ia., and Dr. Gabis J. Jones, Cleveland.

A number of recommendations for the improvement of the present methods of caring for the public health were made by Dr. Joseph Ward of San Francisco, chairman of a committee appointed last year to consider a proposed national health bureau. Dr. Ward urged the necessity of accurate collection of statistics, the study of the prevention of communicable diseases, and the establishment of a school of hygiene and sanitation at Washington for the training of state and local health officers under supervision under the government. Dr. Ward spoke of the present power of the government regarding interstate commerce and declared that it should be broadened to include the regulation of "interstate health."

Following the business meeting in the forenoon came sessions of the bureaus of sanitary science and pedotrophy. Five departmental meetings were on the program for the afternoon and five for tonight. The annual business meeting of the homeopathic eye, ear and throat specialists, the largest of the allied organizations, was held this afternoon, followed by a symposium on "Labyrinth," with Dr. G. W. McKenzie of New York, in the chair.

A SEMI-ANNUAL INTEREST.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, June 28, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 69¼, American Smelting and Refining 79, Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe 113¾, Baltimore & Ohio 102, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 81¾, Canadian Pacific 242¼, Chicago Mil. & St. Paul 127¾, Erie 37½, Great Northern pfd. 135, Interborough-Met. 17½, Interborough-Met. pfd. 49½, Missouri Pacific 49¾, Missouri, Kansas & Texas 37, New York Central 110½, Northern Pacific 121¾, Pennsylvania 124½, Reading 160¼, Rock Island 32¾, Southern Pacific 125¾, Southern Railway 32¼, Union Pacific 189¾, United States Steel 79¾, & 79, United States Steel pfd. 118¾, Lehigh Valley 190.

11—Some large selling orders were executed in United States Steel, which went down to 78½. The fall in this stock exercised considerable influence on the course of the general market and the whole list gave way sharply. Reading, St. Paul, Atchison, Northern Pacific and Missouri Pacific sold from ½ to ¾ below yesterday's closing and the Harriman stocks 1 point. Covering of shorts stopped the downward movement later, but the list did not rally with spirit. United States Rubber was pushed up 1 point.

Noon—The irregularity which has characterized the stock market for several days was again apparent today. Speculative trading was confined chiefly to a few of the leading stocks, and the market became narrow and dull following a brisk selling movement at the outset, which was attributed to large international operations. Acceptance by Brooklyn Rapid Transit of the city's subway offer and its rejection by Interborough Metropolitan apparently were anticipated in the withdrawments of these stocks yesterday, and they were comparatively quiet today. Toward noon stocks became stronger, reaching about the level of yesterday's close. Bonds were steady. Money on call steady at 2¾ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 to 4½ per cent. Exchanges $323,682,909; balances $14,503,990.

JUST LOBBED THEM UP.

Dunn Unable to Put the Ball Over and Father Mathew Defeated by Fort Adams.

Playing games other than those regularly scheduled does not seem to agree with most of the teams in the City League, and Father Mathew is the latest to show this. In the game against Fort Adams Tuesday it went back to original principles and was badly defeated, 10 to 5. Eddie Dunn was on the slab for the Tabs and that was about all, for he seemed to lose what little magic he had after he stopped a hot one in the second inning and the Fort sluggers had things their own way. He could not put them over and just lobbed them up to finish the game.

On the other hand, Landis, who essayed to pitch for the Fort team, was effective at times. He had a good nut drop and a fair in, but lacked experience. He was "mutton" for Carroll, who hit out three doubles and gave the right fielder a chance for a glorious muff. Manager Gifford was short on players and went in himself, with the hope that some one would show up, but the hope was in vain. Harvey did some good fielding and the outfield work of Brown and Fuka was excellent.

The day was foggy and it was a question if there would be light enough for the finish, but the play proceeded without a kick, and considering the number of runs made it was exceptionally fast. The attendance "taxed the capacity," but in an inverse ratio. It was the smallest "crowd" of the season—just 19 paid admissions. That is not enough to pay for balls or the umpires. The score:

CHILDREN'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A children's birthday party was given Tuesday afternoon in honor of Kathleen, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Murphy, at their home on Gould street. The guests numbered about 20 children, most of them accompanied by their mothers, who also received dainty invitations. There were games for entertainment and the extent to which the little people were amused was greatly enjoyed by the adult members of the party.

Most interesting of all was the gathering around the table for the refreshments. Conspicuously looming up in the centre of the table stood a handsome birthday cake and across it in letters of large design "Kathleen 1909-1911." Imbedded in the cake were a number of mysteries to be disclosed, this occupation affording the children much amusement. The favors were little baskets filled with candies and cupid hearts.

THE ELIGIBILITY OF THE RESERVES' CUTTER.

Chairman J. L. Potter of the Fall River carnival race committee has a letter in Tuesday's Fall River Globe, in which he says the question of the eligibility of the Newport Naval Reserves' cutter was submitted to Lieutenant Wood of the navy, who decided that it and the 10-oared whaleboat of the Gresham were not regulation cutters. As a matter of fact, the question was not left to Lieutenant Wood. That Naval Reserve cutter has been in the navy longer than the lieutenant, and has an honorable race record, and Coxswain O'Neill did not allow the qualifications of the cutter to be passed upon by any one.

A CORDIAL WELCOME.

Reception for New Pastor of the Union Congregational Church.

Rev. H. M. Kingsley Makes Hearty Response to Addresses by Prominent Citizens.

Rev. Harold M. Kingsley, the new pastor of the Union Congregational Church, received a cordial welcome to Newport at a reception Tuesday evening. The church, which was decorated with American flags, palms and cut flowers, was filled with a congregation which listened to addresses given in welcome to the pastor and to a musical program.

Dr. M. Alonzo Van Horne presided, and after prayer by Rev. T. W. Henderson, D. D., of the Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church, made an opening address, referring briefly to the history of the Union church and bespeaking for the pastor hearty co-operation in the work in his new field of labor. He introduced the various speakers in a happy manner.

Mayor Boyle gave a cordial welcome to Rev. Mr. Kingsley on behalf of the city. He spoke of the friendly relations which have always existed between him and the negro population of the city, of the remarkable advance which the negro race has made in the 50 years since the days of slavery, and of the promising future before that people. He was followed by Alderman Jeremiah F. Mahoney, who was introduced as the man who saved the negro people of Newport from a degrading disgrace, when the Board of Aldermen refused a license to "The Clansman" to show here. Alderman Mahoney made an interesting address.

Secretary E. O. Andrews of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association made a characteristic speech, welcoming Rev. Mr. Kingsley to the ranks of the Christian workers of Newport. Rev. W. B. Reed of the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church bespoke a cordial welcome in behalf of the negro churches of the city and promised the hearty co-operation of his congregation in the work. Miss Ida Gibbon sang a solo, and Mr. W. G. Stockwell of the local Young Men's Christian Association extended a welcome in behalf of the Association. Dr. Marcus F. Wheatland welcomed the new pastor in behalf of the citizens of Newport. Rev. T. W. Henderson, D. D., and Rev. Henry N. Jeter, D. D., spoke at length on the work to be done in the city and gave a hearty welcome to Rev. Mr. Kingsley in behalf of the congregations of their churches.

Dr. William H. Mathews spoke in behalf of the people of the Union Church, saying he knew there is plenty of work ahead of the new pastor, as in a total population of 1,900, colored people in Newport only about 400 are regular church attendants. He assured Rev. Mr. Kingsley hearty co-operation in the work of bringing these unchurched into the work.

After a selection by the choir Rev. Mr. Kingsley made a stirring address, speaking of his early life, his preparation for the ministry, and his hopes and purposes in this his first field as pastor. He expected to have hard work but has always done hard work and is not afraid to work. He thanked the representatives of the various phases of life in the city who had spoken, for the cordiality of their welcome and promise of co-operation, and said he would do his best to make his pastorate in Newport a success.

After another selection by the choir the entire congregation went to the Sunday School rooms below, where refreshments were served and an opportunity was given to meet the new pastor in an informal way.

Rev. Harold M. Kingsley was born in Mobile, Ala., and received his early education at Emerson Institute in that city. He graduated in 1903 from Talladega College, where he took a prominent part in literary and athletic circles, being a member of the debating and base ball teams, of the Society of Belles Lettres and the Society of Young Men, and secretary of the college Young Men's Christian Association. In 1908 he entered Yale Divinity School and during his first term served as assistant secretary of the Goffe Street Young Men's Christian Association in New Haven. He graduated last month at the Divinity School, receiving the degree of bachelor of divinity, and writing a thesis on "The Negroes of the Oak Street District." During his school, college and divinity career he has spent his vacations in various pursuits to earn money to continue his education, being in turn a newsboy, druggist's assistant, teamster, painter, insurance agent, Young Men's Christian Association worker and machinist.

In 1909 he went back to Mobile and re-organized the colored Young Men's Christian Association on a substantial basis in that city. He received his education under the direction of the American Missionary Association. He has preached several Sundays at the Union Congregational Church and has made a favorable impression on all who have heard him. He is a ready speaker and an earnest worker.

ISLAND PARK ATTRACTIONS.

Series of Free Outdoor Acts for Every Afternoon and Evening During the Summer.

The management of the Old Colony Street Railway Company has arranged for a series of free outdoor acts at Island Park for every afternoon and evening during the summer season. The first of these, to be seen next week, will be the Marriott Twins & Co. There are five in the company, including Dick Ford, for many years the leader of Barnum & Bailey's fun makers and regarded as one of the greatest clowns in the world. The act is a happy combination of fun and feats of dexterity and acrobatic skill.

Another new feature will be introduced every afternoon and evening in the form of grand opera concerts. Some of the greatest of the world's music, as sung and played by famous grand opera stars as well as some of the latest of the popular catchy music, will be reproduced by the auxetophone, a new instrument for this purpose.

Among the other acts to be seen during the summer will be Herzog's trained military stallions, Vallecita and her band of leopards, Rollo, the Limit; Calvert, the King of the High Wire, and others.

There will be the usual dancing afternoon and evening and other attractions which have made this park a popular outing place.

NEW ENGLAND YEARLY MEETING IN THE OLDEN TIME.

NEW ENGLAND YEARLY MEETING.

Echo of its Anniversary Celebration on the Historic Ground Here.

Historical Paper and Poem Tracing Its Connection With Newport.

It looked for a time as if an important event in Newport's early history would be celebrated in Providence only, but obstacles were overcome and Tuesday evening there was a fitting and delightful observance, on the historic ground, of the quarter-millennium of the New England Yearly Meeting of Friends, the oldest in the New World and the largest in all the world in early days. There was not a great crowd present, but enough to make a good audience—in every sense. It was representative, too, for old and young, members of other denominations and Friends from afar mingled freely—all were good friends on this occasion, as has often been the case before. Even the fog took official notice of the event, and so it was a real "June Meeting," held once more in its old home. Perhaps some can remember the days when the roads to Newport were filled with chaises or other carriages of Quakers, coming to Yearly Meeting, and many can remember the crowded trains which used to bring them.

Through the efforts of Rev. John S. Kimber, minister of the Newport Meeting, the program for Tuesday evening was arranged. Of all the papers presented in Providence, two of the most important, especially recording Newport events, were selected. The writers were not able to be here, but the original manuscripts were entrusted to Rev. Mr. Kimber. There were present visiting Friends, young and earnest men, who were heard with interest.

The exercises opened with singing. Milo S. Hinckle read the Scripture, including Paul's story of the saints persected, hounded, sawn asunder. Paul J. Neal offered prayer. Both these Friends are from Indiana.

Rev. Mr. Kimber made introductory remarks, referring to the propriety of this gathering on the historic site—the spot where the first Yearly Meeting was held. The land belonged to Governor Easton, who left his farm to the Yearly Meeting, to be used for erecting a meeting-house, and for the proper conduct of worship. Rev. Mr. Kimber said crumbs of the great feast the Friends have been enjoying in Providence have been gathered up, as it was desired that Newport people should enjoy them also. At Providence were three Friends from London, and clerks represented 10 Yearly Meetings in America.

Mr. Kimber then announced the reading of the historical paper written by Rufus M. Jones, editor of The American Friend and professor of psychology in Haverford College. He called upon Mr. H. B. Wood, who had evinced much interest in this Newport celebration, to read the paper, a full abstract of which is as follows:

Historical Paper by Rufus M. Jones.

The most impressive fact which stands out in the story of "The Quaker Invasion" of New England is the irresistible and conquering power of the faith of the men and women who dedicated themselves to th task of planting on these shores what seemed to them to be the truth. They felt themselves pushed forth to their "hardships and hazards" by an unseen hand and "freely they gave up for the seed's sake," as an old epistle puts it; and having made their great surrender and dedication, they were henceforth afraid of nothing but failure to follow their heavenly vision.

The actual pioneers of New England Quakerism, the real founders of this Yearly Meeting, were 11 persons who in the summer of 1657 came across the ocean in their own little boat, the "Woodhouse," which, as they believed, the Lord steered, "like as He did Noah's ark." "We saw the Lord", they declare, "leading our vessel, even as it were a man leading a horse by the head!" Early in the month now called August these Argonauts landed at Newport, Rhode Island, and disembarked with the word ringing in their ears: "The Seed of God in America shall be as the sand of the sea," and "it caused tears to break forth with fulness of joy". They were the first to publish the Quaker message on the island of Rhode Island, in Providence, Martha's Vineyard, Sandwich, Plymouth, Salem, Dover and other New England centres. They were travailing in the power of an experience which made them able to say in all sincerity: "I have seen His glory and am overcome with His love!"

In less than four years the meeting was held in Newport which we celebrate today. It was called by an English Friend named George Rofe, who visited all the centres of Quakerism in the western world, in 1661. In a letter, he gives the following account of this first General Meeting over held in America: "We came in at Rhode Island and and appointed a General Meeting for all Friends in those parts (meaning all New England), which was a very great meeting and very precious, and continued four days together, and the Lord was with His people and blessed them and all departed in peace. There is a good seed in that people."

Unfortunately there are no records in existence of this meeting, and no descriptions of its type and character, but we may safely infer that it was in all respects like the General Meetings which had already been held in England. These were held for two main purposes: (1) For spiritual comfort and edification, and (2) to consider such things as "concern the affairs of truth." The latter included matters of administration and counsel, making collections for the poor and the persecuted, providing for the families of those called forth in the ministry and making regulations for the recording of marriages, births and deaths. How the business was conducted, whether there were clerks to take the sense of the meeting, whether documents were issued, and many more interesting questions, must remain unanswered.

One contemporary report of the meeting has come down to us from an important historian, George Bishop, in his "New England Judged." In which he says, under date of 1661: "About this time the General Meeting, at Rhode Island, about 60 miles from Boston, was set up" and he gives graphic evidence that the meeting was large and attracted much attention. "You" (people of Boston), he says, "made an alarm that the Quakers were gathering together to kill the people and to fire the town of Boston."

Friends from the scattered groups dwelling all the way from Newport to the Piscataqua river were gathered at this first meeting, as Bishop says, "waiting upon the Lord and seeing into the faces of one another." This may be called the birth of the beloved New England Yearly Meeting. Witness that it was continued annually is found in the writings of John Burnyeat, one of the pillar apostles of Quakerism, who visited Rhode Island in the summer of 1656, five years after the first Yearly Meeting, and again in 1671. He writes: "I took shipping for Rhode Island, and was there at their Yearly Meeting in 1671, which begins the ninth of the fourth month (June of our present calendar) every year, and continues much of a week, and is a General Meeting once a year for all Friends in New England."

The next year, 1672, on the thirtieth day of the sixth month (new style) George Fox arrived in Newport. He writes: "The week following, the Yearly Meeting for all the Friends of New England and all the other colonies adjacent was held on this island. * * * This meeting lasted six days, the first four days being general public meetings for worship, to which abundance of other people (than Friends) came, for they have no priest in the island, and no restriction to any particular way of worship; and both the governor (Nicholas Easton) and the deputy governor (John Cranston, not a Friend), with several justices of the peace, daily frequented the meetings; so encouraged the people that they flocked in from all parts of the island. * * I have rarely observed people hear with more attention, diligence, and affection than generally they did during the four days together. After these public meetings were over, the men's meeting began, which was large, precious and weighty; and the day following was the women's meeting, which was also large and very solemn.

"When this great General Meeting in Rhode Island was ended, it was somewhat hard for Friends to part; for the glorious power of the Lord which was over all, and His blessed truth and life flowing amongst them, had so knit and united them together that they spent two days in taking leave one of another, and of the Friends of the island; and then, being mightily filled with the presence and power of the Lord, they went away with joyful hearts to their various habitations in the several colonies where they lived."

For a hundred years the Friends were a very prominent factor in the government of the colony. William Coddington, who was foremost among the founders of the Rhode Island colony; Nicholas Easton, who built the first house in Newport; Walter Clarke, who saved the charter of the colony in the Andros crisis; John Easton, who plead with King Philip to try arbitration instead of war, were some of the members of this Yearly Meeting who

YACHT RACE FOR THE FOURTH.

Arrangements and Regulations Made for Sailing and Motor Boat Classes.

The committee on Fourth of July celebration has apportioned $50 for a yacht race and given the management to the regatta committee of the Newport Yacht Club. The latter committee held a meeting Tuesday evening and made arrangements for the race. Once this would have meant a race for sailing craft only, but now there are so many motor boats that it was thought only fair to divide the purse, giving half for the sailing and half for the motor boats. All Newport boats are eligible and in each division all will go in one class.

The sailing craft will sail on over-all measurement, allowing seven seconds per foot per mile. This is the rule in general favor all over the bay. Boats will be measured at the Newport Yacht Club by Measurer J. Everett Benson Sunday morning from 10 o'clock, and on the morning of July 4 up to 10 o'clock.

Motor boats will be required to give their time over the course, in order to afford a basis for handicapping. The course is from the starting line off the flagpole at the Torpedo Station, around St. Patrick's buoy, around the spar buoy southeast of Rose Island, and around the Dolphin south of Goat Island. It is suggested that, to obtain the time accurately owners take out some cool-headed friend; taking the time as the south side of the sea wall of Long wharf is in line and the finish at the same point. The importance of doing the best possible and of taking the time accurately can be seen when it is stated that boats will be allowed a margin of only three per cent variation from the given time; that is, if a boat goes more than three per cent faster than the time given she will be disqualified.

The signal for the motor boats will be given at 2 p. m. and 10 minutes will be allowed for them to go across the line. The preliminary signal for the sailing craft will be at 2:10 and the starting gun, a one-gun start, will be at 2:15. One of the regular club courses will be used for the sailing craft.

If seven sailing crafts start the prizes will be $12, $8 and $5, and the same rule will hold for the motor boats.
